Plainsmen discover that . . .
confusion creates pressure

Alice Cochran, senior: "When I'm on the stage, I just forget who I am ... I'm not Alice then. Suddenly I'm a witch and the only thing that matters is convincing the children that I hate everybody."

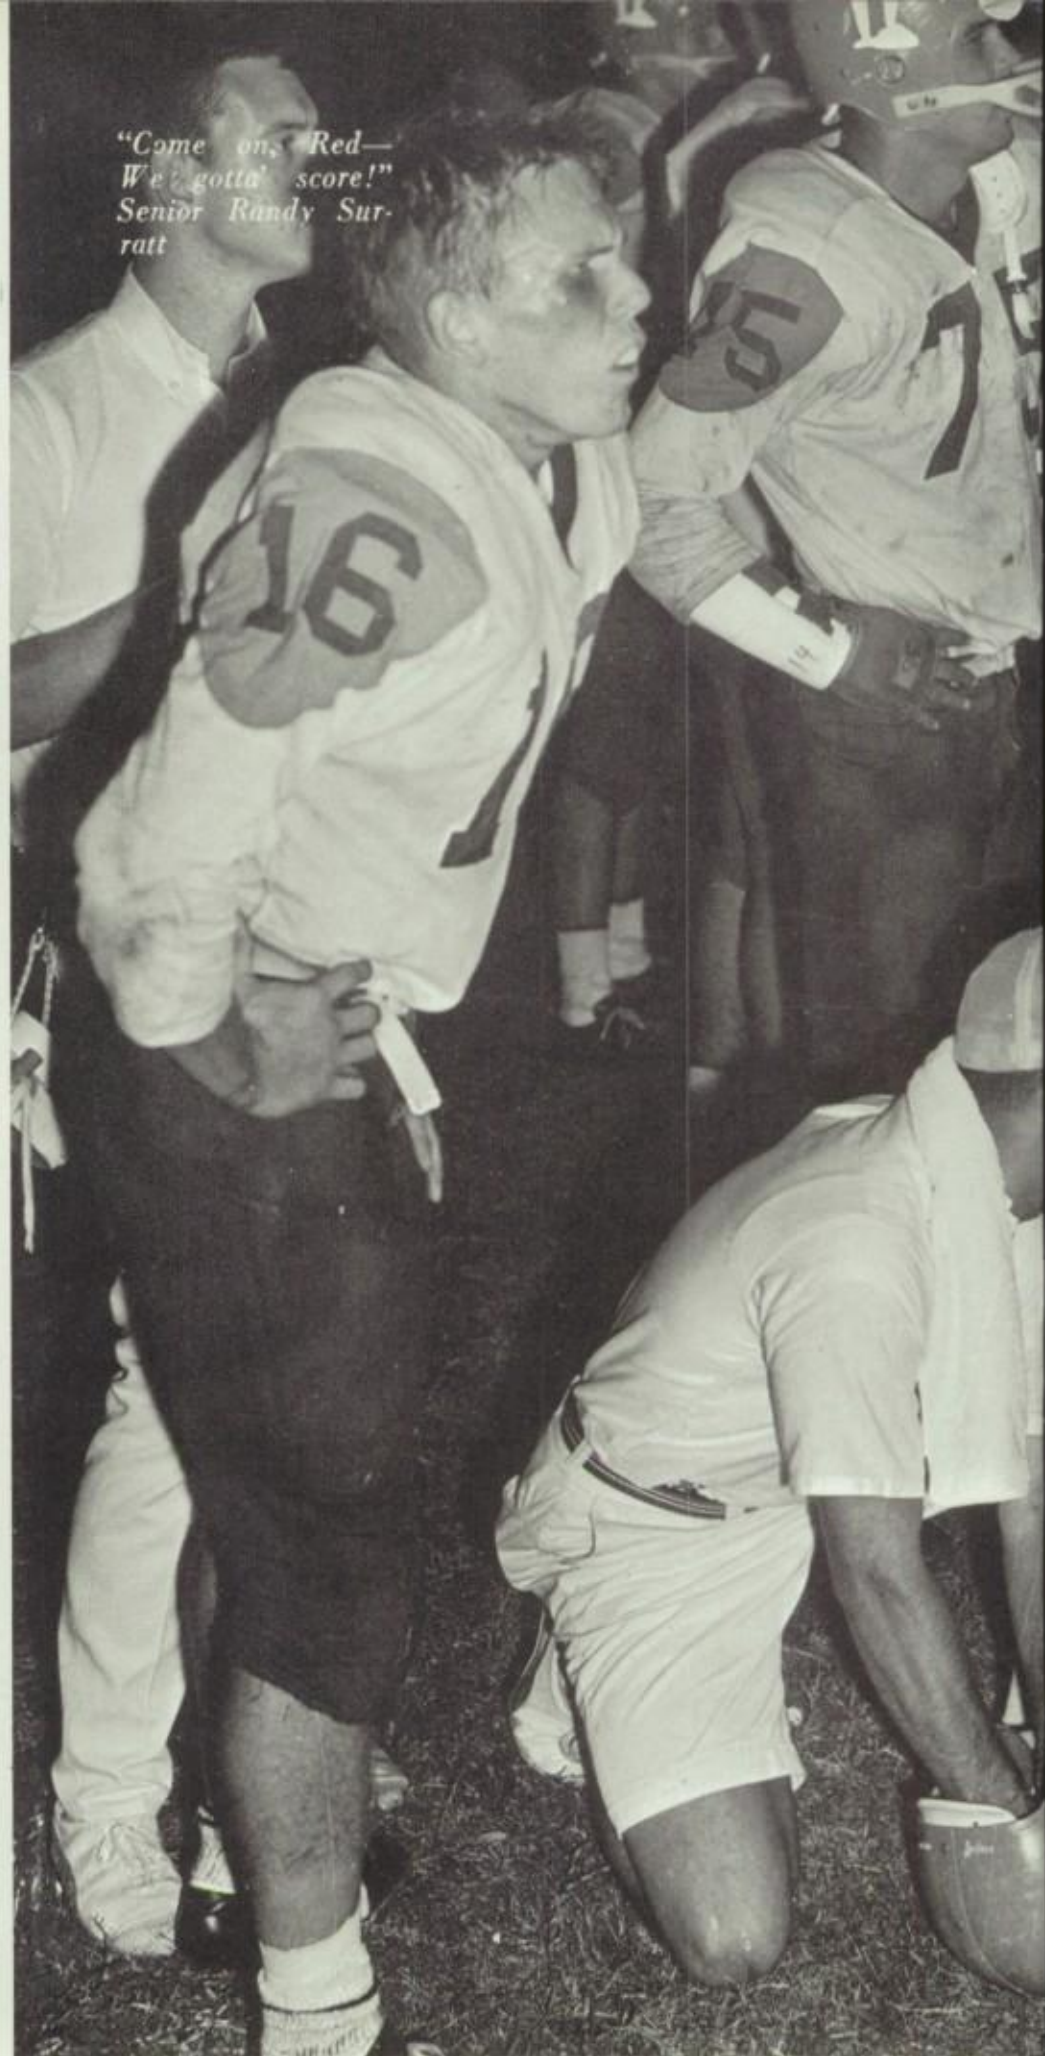

At a time when college representatives, counselors, teachers and parents were prodding Plainsmen to make concrete decisions about the future, confusion was perhaps their dominant emotion. Most of the confusion was born with social awareness because questions come from relationships with others who cause one to question what he believes.

Time was at a premium ... there's always so little time and so much to do ... the safe comfortable thing was to concentrate on the real ... the tangible and stable ... grades ... the team ... Monterey ... the value of these things never changes. From day to day life goes on and this year dissolved into another year and Plainsmen found their places in the whirling world.

"I always find myself wondering if it's worth it until I hear the response of the students," says Donnie Richards, teacher.

School can be very dull unless there is an adequate extra-curricular program. Those responsible in '67 began to search early for new ideas and to question traditions . . . Should there be pep rally skits? . . . Would Christmas interfere with Carnival? . . . Could a "Battle of the Bands" be successful . . . How could 2100 students become acquainted quickest? . . . Answers came as Campus Activities began to take shape.

Plainsmen Step Into Year Of Friendships With Howdy Week

As the school year '66-'67 arrived Plainsmen went through the first few days of chaos; then Howdy Week. During the entire five days, they re-newed old acquaintances and met all the new people possible. As the week progressed, they saw a Howdy Assembly and learned about Monterey and the year's activities. The week was climaxed with Cowtown—the greatest all-school party ever. Howdy Week had been so successful that a tremendous profit was made on the marriage booth.

Howdy Week begins for seniors Curtis Ripley and Mary Ann Anthony just as it begins for all Plainsmen when they receive their Howdy Tags and get into the swing of that friendly spirit.

"Victory! victory! victory!" is the battle cry of the spirited Plainsmen who are giving their support to senior tackle Gary Jones in a mock pep rally set up during the Howdy Assembly.

Matrimony can be a dangerous thing, but seniors Noble Douglass and Glenna Guess decide to throw caution to the wind and "get hitched" at Cowtown '67.

Even though it is only pretend, marriage just cannot be all that bad; besides, Jimmy Snowden and Debbie Black both know that this one is only for a few short hours.

A western air and a pioneer ruggedness characterize Cowtown Marshalls Neal Young, Jimmy O'Jibway, and Tommy White.

Sturdy Backbone Of the Victor

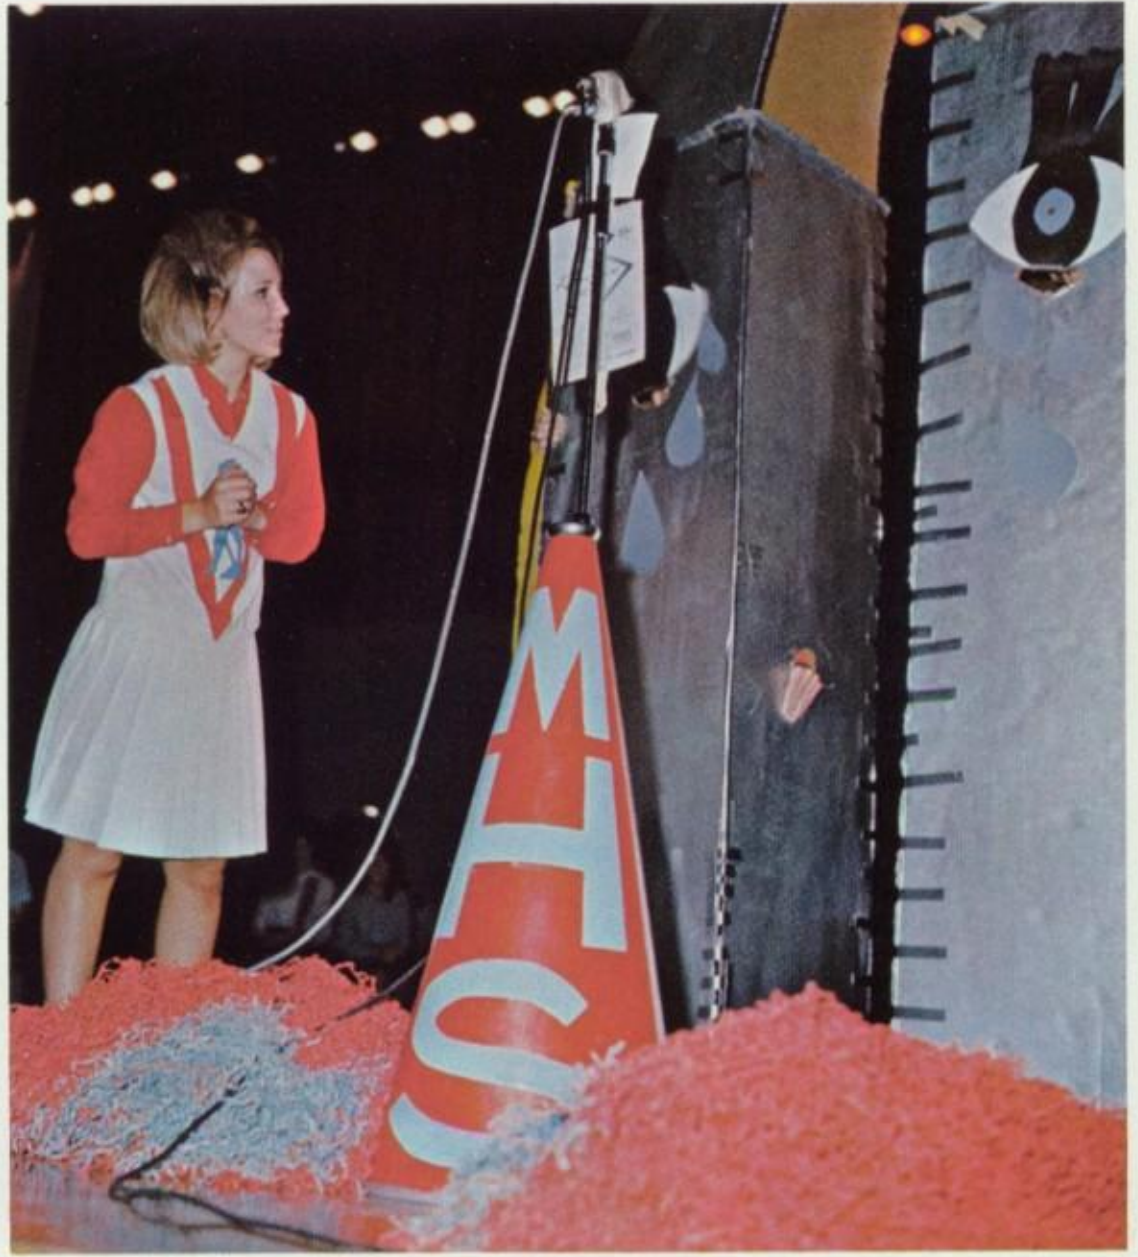

The Lubbock High-Monterey football game of '66-'67 was predicted to be a toss-up by a local sports writer. But after the battle, a varsity player retorted, "Yeah! we like those 43-0 toss-ups!" The victory was the result of overwhelming team effort and every Plainsman's indescribable "feeling" that the spurs would come home. It was a victory born of confidence.

Fury is added to the fire that burns for the Monterey-Lubbock High game with the lighting of the traditional Hex Candle by quad-captains Randy Surratt, Jimmy Stiles, Randy Franks and Jimmy O'Jibway.

"They're home to stay!" This is the feeling that enveloped every Plainsman including Principal B. J. Randles as he fondles the priceless spurs.

"We hot-footed it over here to Monterey because it's so lonely in that empty trophy case at Lubbock High!" is the tearful story that head cheerleader, Debbie Black hears from the "escaped spur" during the Lubbock High pep rally.

In reverence to the Lubbock High Westerner's inevitable "death"—a 43-0 defeat—juniors Ricky Jackson and Harvey Coy lead a mock funeral procession during the game activities before school.

Maybe Plainsmen won't see a white Christmas, but the Yuletide spirit inhabits every corner at Monterey. Cheryl Hannabus, Gaylon Bennett and Debbie Madden join all students in creating a holiday atmosphere.

Athletes Elect 66-'67 Queen

Support for the Monterey athletic teams was a factor in procuring a record of wins for '67. Activities such as selling ribbons, carrying out class projects and setting up all-school pep rallies became a part of the spirit of Monterey.

Varsity athletes appreciated the support by honoring three girls: one was chosen sports queen and two were named attendants. At half time of the Monterey-Coronado basketball game, senior Jan Price was crowned as the Plainsman Sports Queen for 1967.

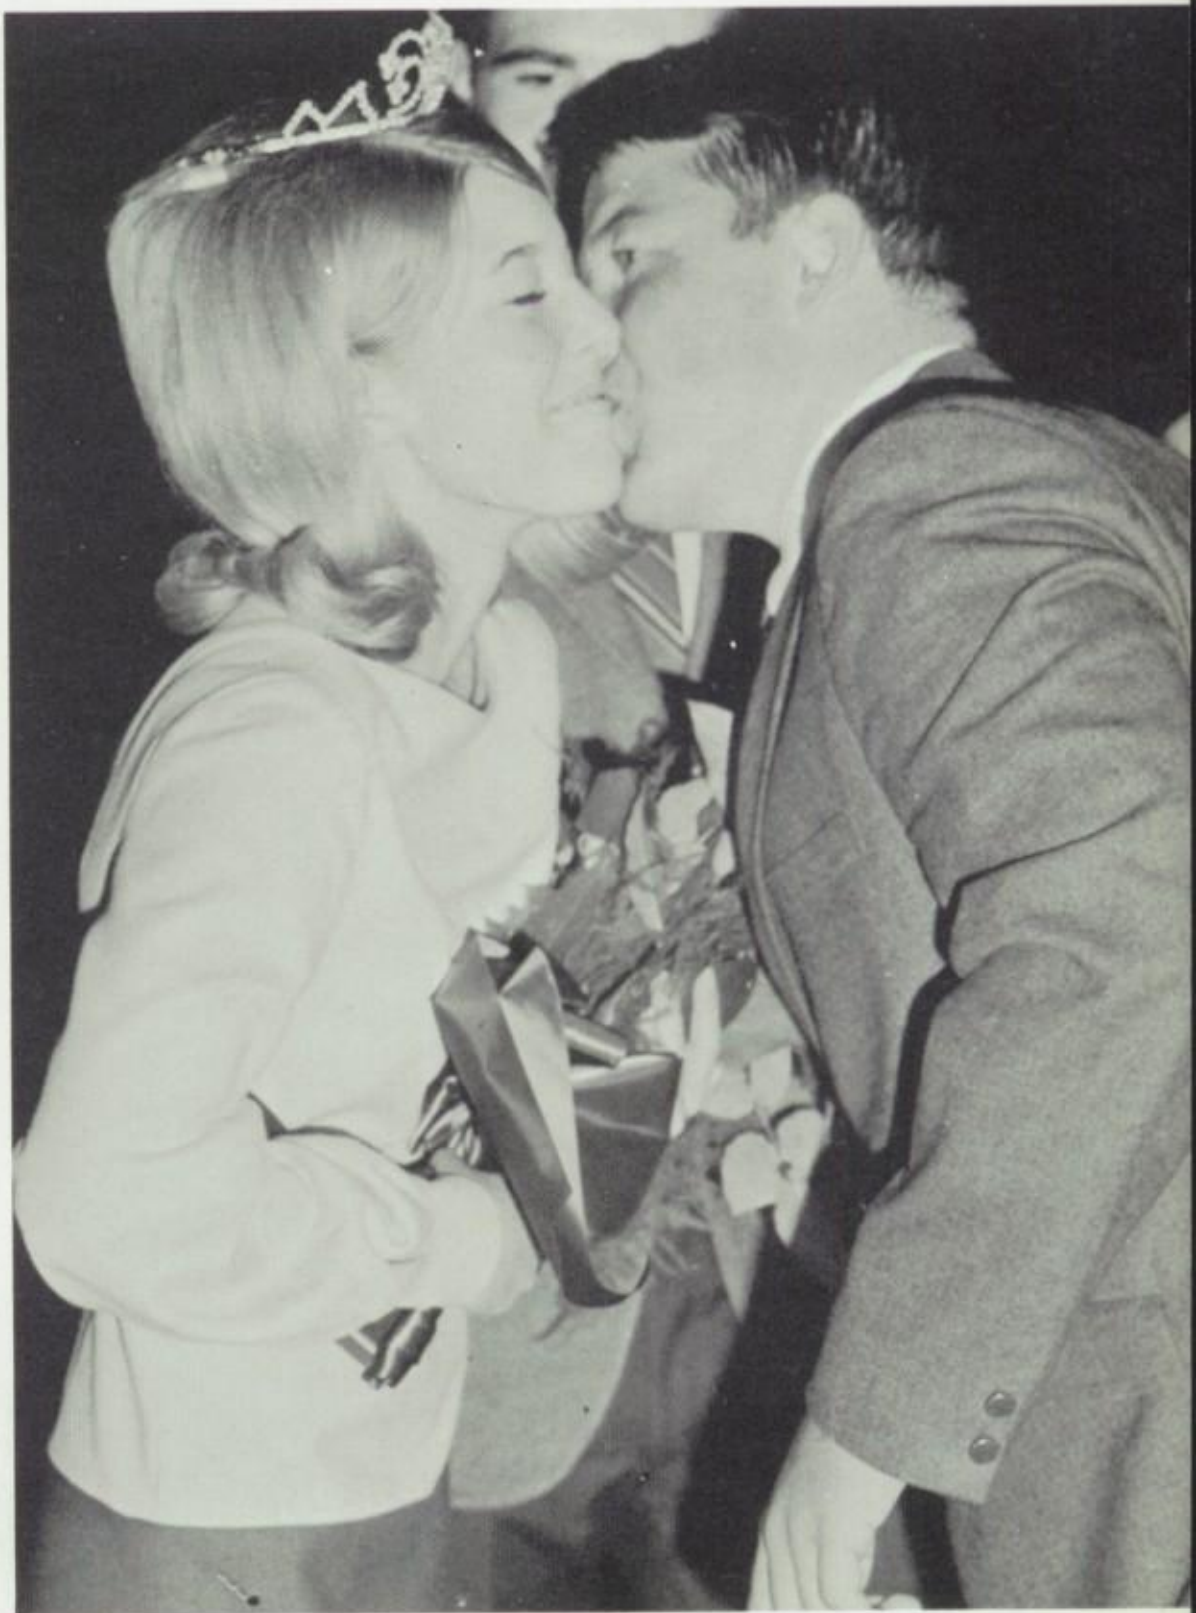

Hard work does not go unnoticed; varsity athletes honored senior cheerleader Jan Price for steady support by crowning her their queen.

Roses, a crown and a "congratulations" from senior Jimmy Stiles reassure Jan that her moment of ecstasy is a reality rather than a figment of a wistful feminine imagination.

Stealing a kiss from Monterey's 1967 Sports Queen is the pleasant duty that upon senior golf-team representative, Alan White, who was chosen to crown the queen and her court.

Dance, Crowning Highlight Event

Approximately 375 Plainsmen, decked in costume, invaded Mardi Gras '67. Dancing to the Velvetens was the main attraction of the festive evening. A photo booth was available for all who wished to capture the memorable event in a picture. During halftime, royalty was announced. Crepe paper hung from the walls and confetti was strewn across the gym floor. Another Mardi Gras came to an end. All left, with the thrill of an all-school dance behind them.

Even during a gala affair there are slow moments. A couple seems to take advantage of a soft tune.

Amid crepe paper and costumes seniors Jimmy O'Jibway and Ginger Blon are crowned Duke and Duchess.

To keep a big party from becoming a big flop, arrangements must be made in advance. The Velvetens were signed to play for the largest costume dance during a Monterey year, Mardi Gras.

It is inevitable that some people emerge as favorites during each school year. They are the people who count everyone a friend as they make themselves worthy of friendship. Elected by popular vote of each class, favorites are kept secret until May.

Crowning Spices Sports Season

Once a year Monterey athletes vote for whom they think give their teams the most support while competing with other schools. With the tallying of these ballots the Sports Queen for that year is chosen. In '67 Jan Price was named to wear the crown; Debby Black and Beth Huff were her attendants.

The real worth of things is constantly being challenged by youth who are reluctant to accept the status quo. For this reason when one joins a club program, one must first determine its worth . . . then determine to do his best to not only maintain the standard, but to exceed it. Small activity becomes a challenge . . . raising money . . . conventions . . . scrapbooks . . . initiations. Through it all the question recurs . . . is it really worth it?

Club Stresses Inner Growth, Outer Relations With People

To grow as a person in the friendship of all people and in the knowledge and love of God are the goals presented to its members by Y-Teens Service club. Members attend bi-weekly meetings, sell programs at football games, take care of the annex showcase each month and participate in social and service activities, such as TB bangle sales and the groady party. Mrs. Jeanelle Culp, assisted by six other women teachers, serves as club sponsor.

During Y-Teens hot chocolate party, senior Nancy Costanzo agrees there's nothing like a steaming cup of chocolate topped with "um-good" marshmallows.

Checking to see that everything is in order before opening the meeting, Sherron Schmidt, president of Y-Teens, brightens the auditorium lights.

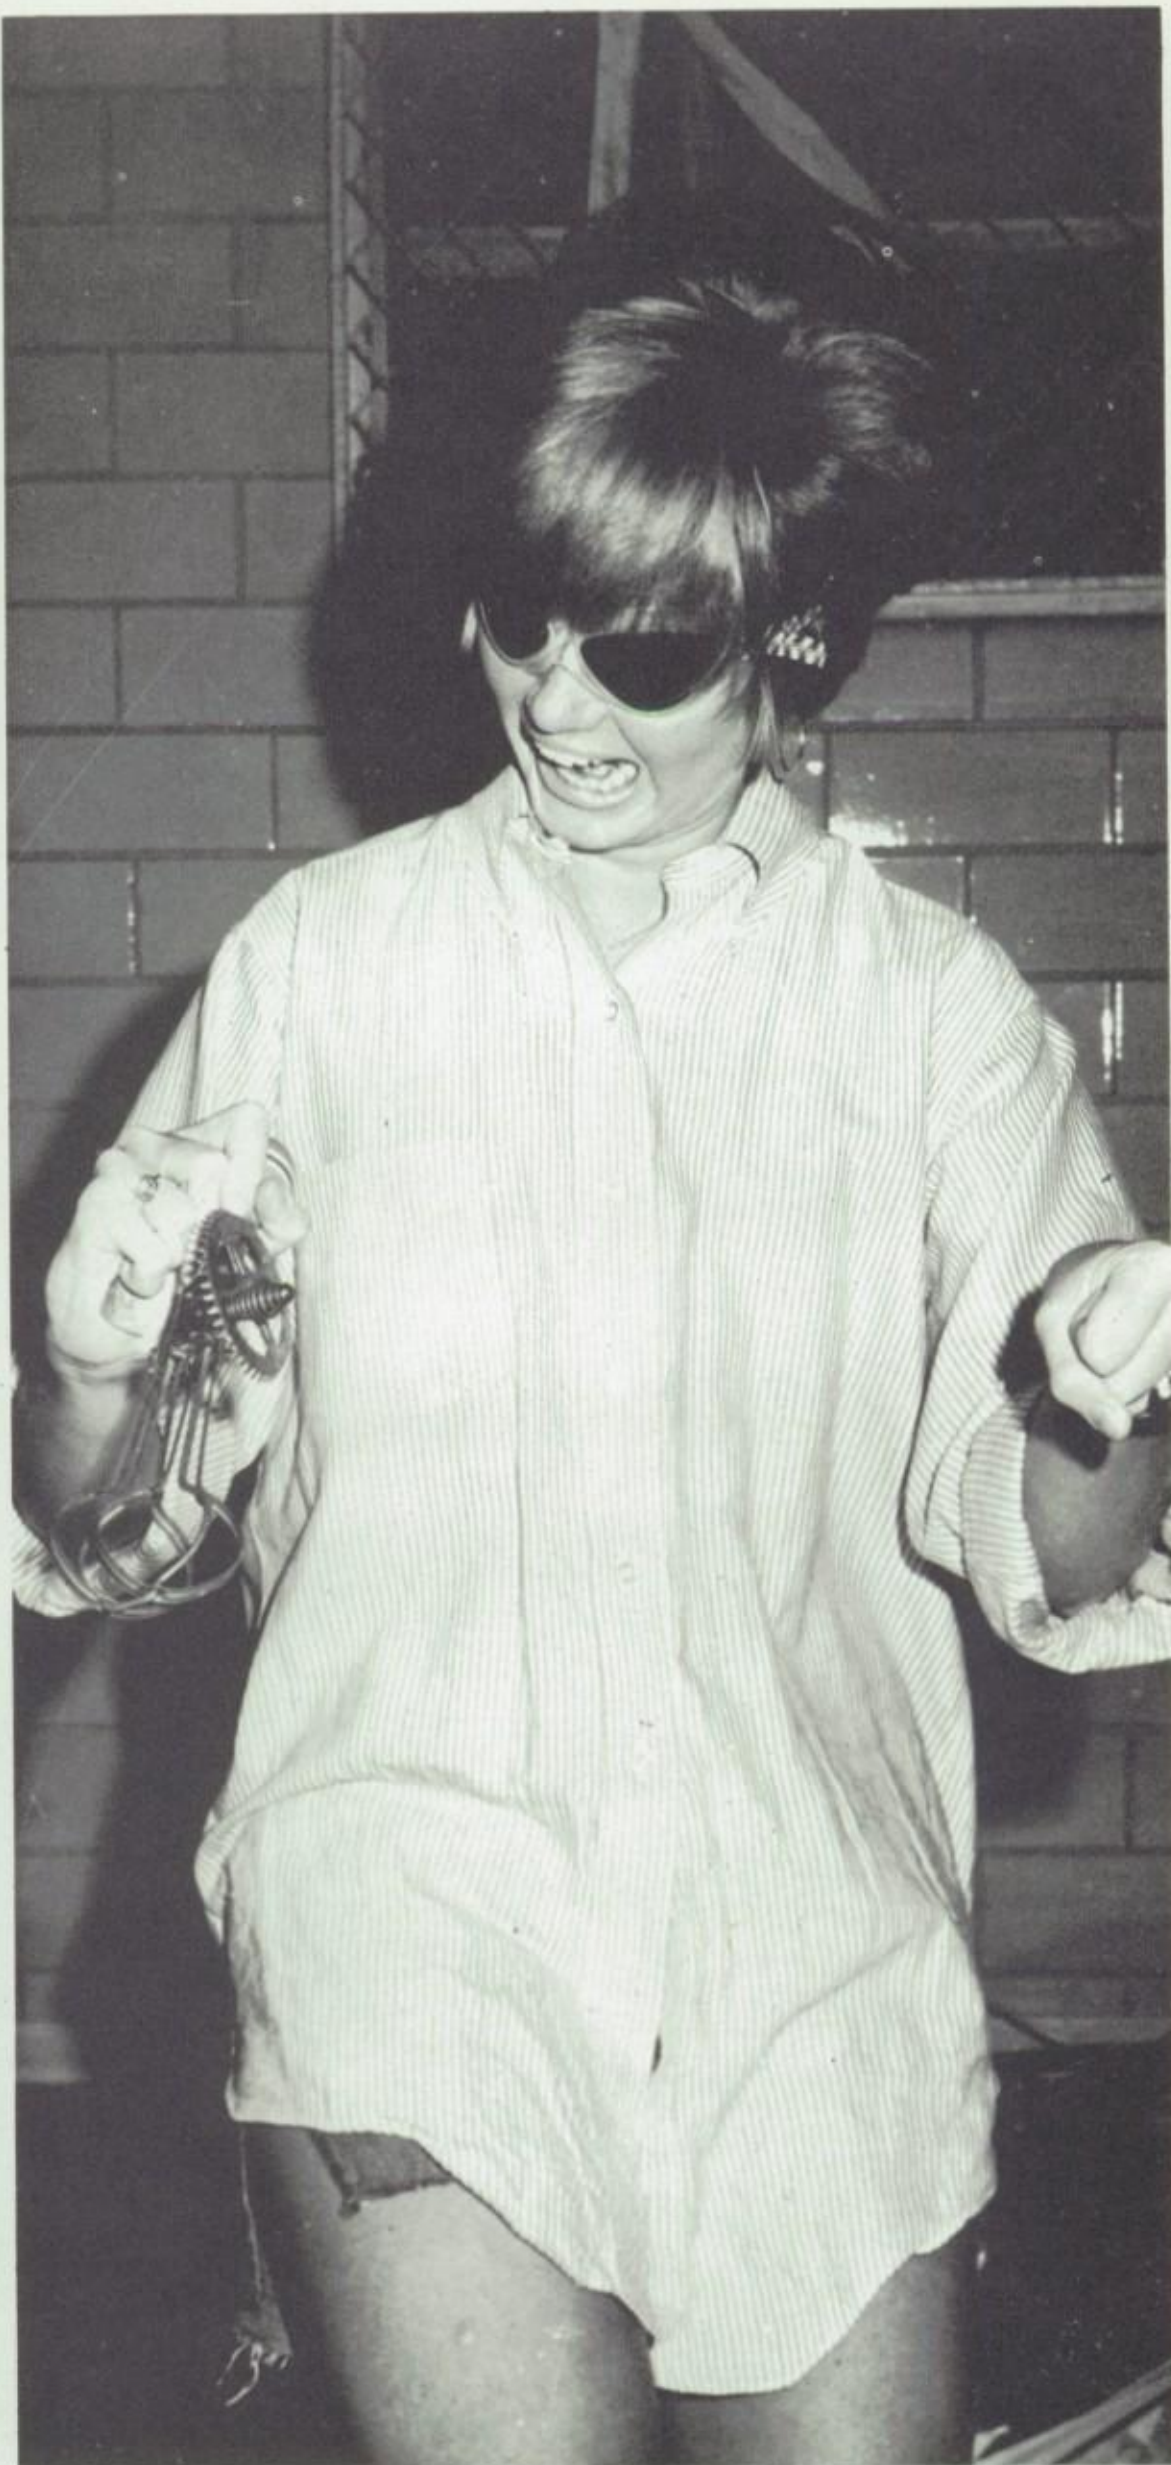

Distribution of grooming boxes for underprivileged children at Christmas time is Y-Teen's main service project of the year. Helping Lin Bowen, service chairmen, fill grooming boxes which were previously decorated by club members, Jean Jenkins and Linda Dunagan sort toilet articles.

"Oh, no you don't!" shouts Ronnie Rummel as Steve Moore tries to make a basket. Both are practicing for the basketball tournament between homerooms, sponsored by the Hi-Y.

As presidents of their Hi-Y's, Steve Davis, junior, Ronnie Rummel, senior, and Mark Hughes, sophomore, discuss money-making projects to help underdeveloped and poverty stricken countries through the World Wide Service Program.

Realizing the importance of religion upon daily living, Steve Moore, chaplain, prepares a scripture for the devotional presented before each meeting of the Senior Hi-Y.

Hi-Y Groups Select Austin Delegates

Hi-Y teaches its members about local and state governments and also acts as a service organization. Any boy may join one of the three Hi-Y clubs whose membership is determined by the boys' classifications. The clubs work together on projects such as Pre-Leg, World Service programs and the annual Austin Youth and Government meeting. The sponsors for the three groups are Mr. Sam Vaughter, Senior Hi-Y; Mr. Darrell McClure, Junior Hi-Y; and Mr. Richard Umstot, Sophomore Hi-Y.

FTA Members Experience Thrill of Real Classroom

FTA, as one step between learning and teaching others, serves as a foundation on which club members may build a teaching career. The year is spent studying the art of instruction and at the conclusion of the study in April, students are given a chance to challenge their abilities by practice teaching in local public schools. As a member of the teaching profession, Mrs. Fay Clary qualifies to sponsor and guide potential teachers in the ways of education.

MHS Future Farmers Display Projects at Area Contests

FFA is an organization in which boys learn the agricultural skills in the classroom and practice them at the Lubbock Ag farm. All ag boys are automatically admitted to FFA. During meetings held in the evening, they discuss business and enjoy a planned program.

One of the club's activities is in the area of competition; members take part in judging and leadership contests. These contests include dairy products, poultry, meats, land, crops, livestock, dairy cows and cotton. Leadership contests involve outstanding boys who may compete in chapter-conducting, farm radio or FFA quiz. Participation by all FFA members, as a result, yields to a broadened scope of the agricultural field.

Ag boys are not the only ones who have farm duties. FFA sponsor, Mr. Chris Kountz, adjusts a feed trough for Fred, his favorite chicken.

At the close of the South Plains Fair, Greg Houst, FFA member, helps in the disassembling of the agriculture display on water conservation.

Carefully inspecting valentines to be purchased by FHA members Linda Ellis, Carolyn Fralin and Susan Joiner chose only those cards that best express admiration Monterey has for soldiers in Viet Nam.

Hoping to ease the ache of lonely hearts in Viet Nam, FHA officers get their valentines ready to mail. Some of the girls made their own valentines for the special name they chose.

Hoping that Cupid's arrows will travel a long, long way and bring smiles to the faces of servicemen, Cathy Percival fulfills her job of Secretary of FHA by mailing valentines to Viet Nam.

FHA Valentines Brighten War

Through parties, banquets, initiations, and planned programs, FHA encourages each girl to participate in a growing appreciation of the jobs and satisfactions of homemaking. The club is guided by President Sharon Shaw; Vice-Presidents Carolyn Fralin, Linda Ellis, Susie Wall and June Carter; Secretaries Cathy Percivel and Betty Jo Hollis; Treasurer Susan Joiner, Historian Pam Owens, Parliamentarian Sharon Key, Songleader Pam Elliot and Pianist Carolyn Doss contribute toward making Sponsor Mary Lou Thurman's job easier.

FHA Sponsors City Initiation

Each year a city-wide FHA formal initiation is held, with a different school in charge of arrangements. This year Mrs. Mary Lou Thurman of Monterey served as chairman. Initiates were presented from all junior and senior high schools to President Sharon Shaw. After repeating pledges the new members were entertained by skits presented by all participating schools.

Realizing that an oath is a solemn promise, President Sharon Shaw leads prospective members in the FHA pledge which is a major part of formal initiation.

After having taken their pledge, new members sing the FHA song led by Recreation Chairman Susie Wall at initiation ceremonies in the Monterey High School auditorium.

Orientating prospective members Carol Spratt and Sandra Casey in the opportunities available to them through programs and parties, Sponsor Mrs. Mary Lou Thurman hopes to include them as active members in a growing club.

FNA, Pre-Med Members Reach Toward High Medical Goals

Providing students with a realistic insight into the medical profession, both Pre-Med and FNA serve worthwhile goals. Pre-Med strives to acquaint its members with the endless opportunities available in its field, while FNA specializes in the aspects of nursing. Both clubs schedule films, speakers and field trips in their programs to increase knowledge and add interest.

Having received the training and experience necessary to qualify her, Mrs. June Ducker guides girls who plan to enter the nursing field.

MHS Science Clubs Challenge Students To Learn, Discover

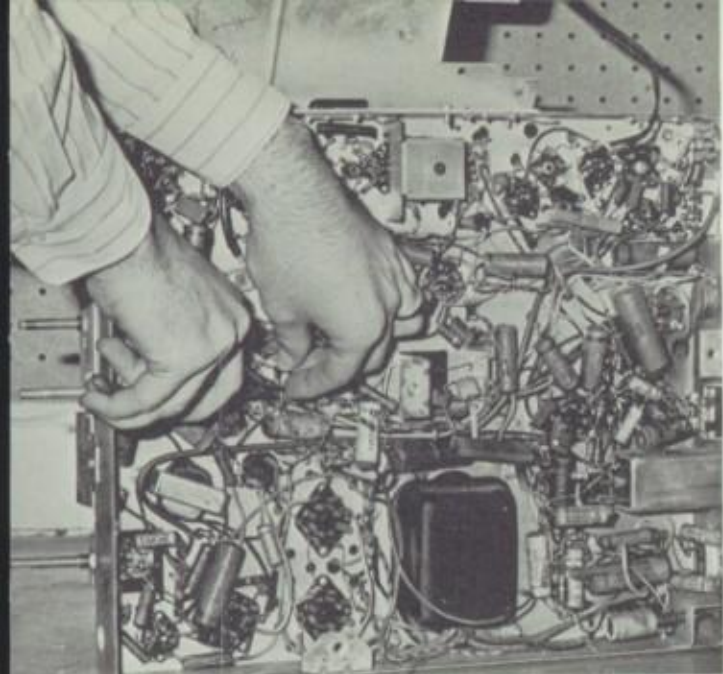

Science and Chemistry Clubs provide MHS students with the opportunity to question and with the satisfaction of discovery. Chemistry students who wish to explore the vocations of chemistry or progress to advanced study will enjoy the speakers, films, demonstrations and trips to the Tech Chemistry department. Group participation is stressed in the Science club. Members present programs on rocketry, herpetology, archeology, photography and other interesting topics in the broadening field of science.

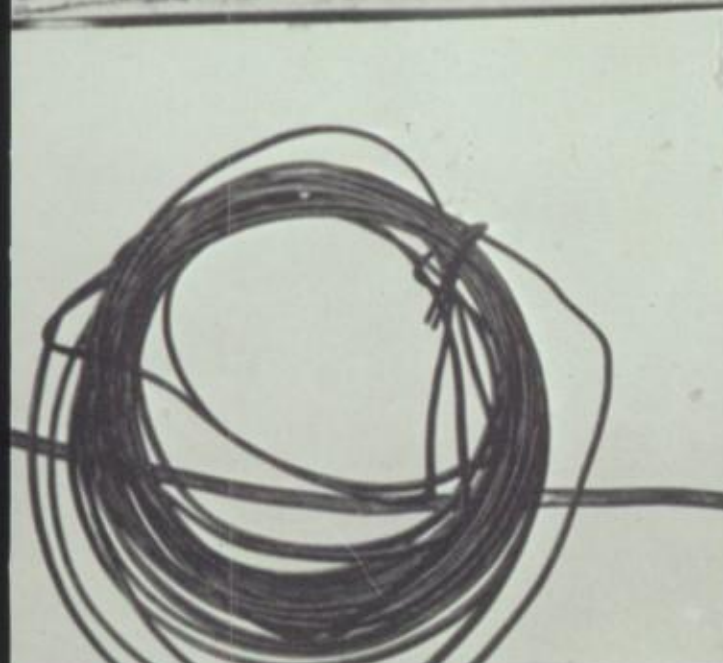

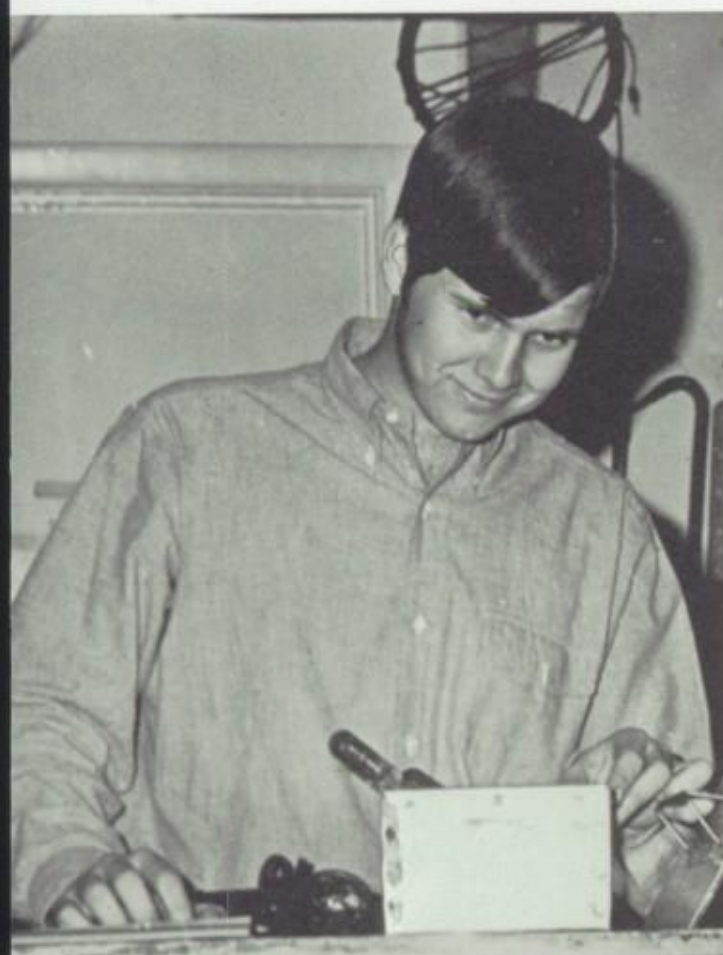

Performing an experiment for the Science club, President James Curry uses a J tube and mercury to prove the Boyles law of barometric pressure.

Weighing chemical ingredients for a laboratory experiment, James Wood, secretary of the Chemistry club, demonstrates the importance of always using exact measurements to achieve positive results.

Charter Members Fill Year With 'Firsts' In Electronics

Having come into existence only this year, the Electronics Club, sponsored by Mr. Charles Wilson, has actively filled the time of boys who in the near future will enter into the field of electronics. The club, through guest speakers and instructions, acts as an informant to its members; boys learn of new and old techniques of their planned vocation. Interest was promoted by district and state conventions. This year some of the club members constructed a computer which they entered in state competition.

Quick to react to an upset in the computer which club members Shields Horney and DuWayne Hastings constructed for state competition, president Joel Fortenberry hurriedly seizes a fire extinguisher.

French, Spanish Clubs Relieve Tedious Language Courses

"Hola!" "Bonjour!" Los Buenos Veninos and Les Parisians echo with these greetings at their meetings designed to improve fluency and add interest to a course filled with drills, drills, drills. Mr. Donnie Richards leads LBV in rummage sales, banquets and teaching at Guadalupe Center. A smaller but equally effective club, Les Parisians, is sponsored by Mrs. Michele Wade and engages in bake sales, dances and programs of slides, speakers and French bingo.

While French Club members enjoy the candlelight and checkered tableclothes of the initiation party, officers Georgette Watson, Marsha Vann, Kim Haley and Betsy Bronwell work in the kitchen preparing refreshments.

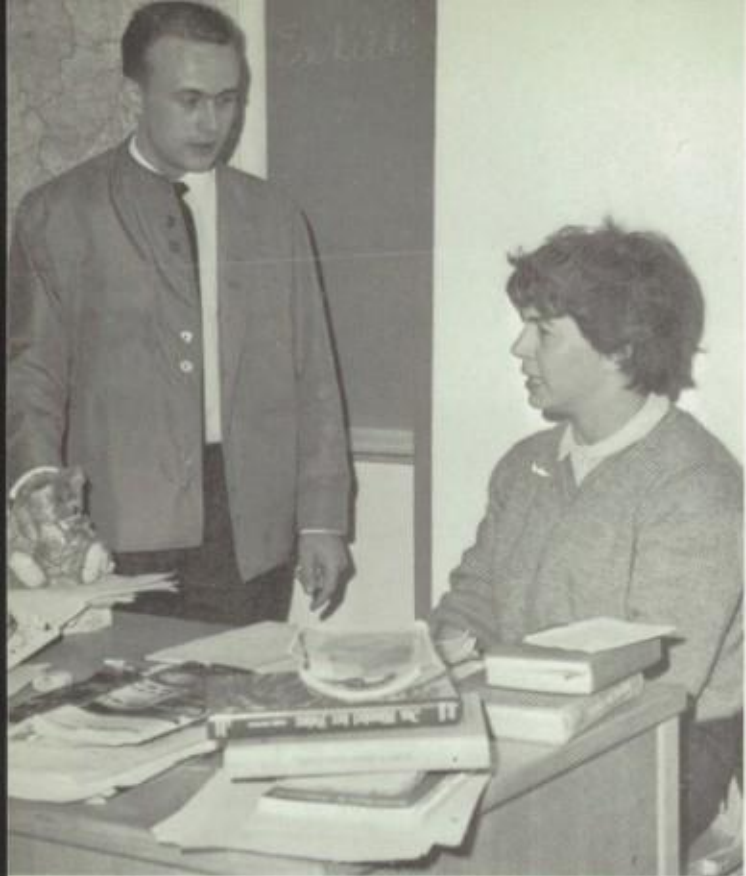

Whether teaching games or supervising football, Spanish Club members such as Sharon Salit perform a necessary and enjoyable job at Guadalupe Center.

German, Latin Clubs Offer Language, Land Appreciation

Der Wandervögel, better known as the Monterey German Club, is open to any student taking German. As sponsor of the club, Mrs. Josephine Jardine works with the officers to see that the club's activities are adequately carried out. Films obtained through the German consulate in Houston furnish several programs, and projects, such as bake sales, provide proceeds for subscription rates to German magazines.

SPQR, a club for Latin scholars, expands students' knowledge of the cultural aspects of Latin through introduction of linguistic and historic appreciation. Though guest speakers fill a major part of the Latin Club calendar, members also take part in activities, such as the annual rummage sale, Saturnalia, and the state JCL convention. Serving as club sponsor is Mrs. Anna Marie Brown.

Guiding Precepts Cast Mold For NHS Pledges, Actives

Character, scholarship, leadership and service—these are the four qualities upon which the National Honor Society is based. No honor can excel membership in this organization, for it is representative of students who have most nearly accomplished the fundamental objectives and desired ends for which schools are instituted. A major project of NHS is providing two deserving students with scholarships. Funds are raised through such activities as the annual slave sale, program sales for district football games and a paperback book sale held within the club. Language Mastery Gained Through Club Participation

Attaining a better mastery of our language is the purpose of both the National Forensic League and the National Thespians. Members of the National Forensic League achieve self-control, self-confidence and poise through activities in their separate divisions of oral interpretation, debate, extemporaneous speech, etc. As a National Thespian, a member learns to appreciate the theater arts and its techniques through actual stage work. Mr. D. M. Howell serves as sponsor for both organizations.

Modern Dance, TAT Stress Active Creative Expression

Monterey's Modern Dance Club strives to further the appreciation of dance as a means of self-expression by offering guest speakers and instructors qualified in the art of choreography. Sponsored by Miss Dixie Crownover, and led by president Andrea Irwin, vice-president Margaret Whitely and secretary Sandy Seigler, Modern Dance elevates the creativity of its members.

TAT, sponsored by Mrs. Gale Smith and led by president Nancy Perkins, vice-presidents Jane Gully and Celia Brow and secretary Judy Dalrymple, provides stimulating programs to promote an interest in the graphic and fine arts for Tomorrow's Artists Today. Each year in the spring TAT sponsors an art sale of student art projects.

Every good teacher knows that she must lend a helping hand often. Mrs. Gale Smith, TAT sponsor, does that as she puts the finishing touches on a stained glass window.

Caught with her guard down, Miss Dixie Crownover, sponsor of Modern Dance, assumes the role of "Mr. Hyde".

Clubs Encourage Creative Ability

Works of beauty spring from an active imagination and an artful sense of creation. Members of Musicians' Guild and Quill and Scroll strive for artistry in their work as musicians and writers. The honorary club for junior and senior publication students encourages young journalists while broadening knowledge through programs by professional artists. Musicians' Guild, a group of fun-loving band, orchestra and choir members, enjoy hearing, singing and playing music. Programs are given by professionals or students and vary from Bach to Bob Dylan.

Officers of Musicians' Guild believe in broadening their skills as musicians. Here, Betsy Walker, secretary-treasurer, and David Messersmith, president, watch as Tisha Griffin, senior vice president, learns to strum the guitar.

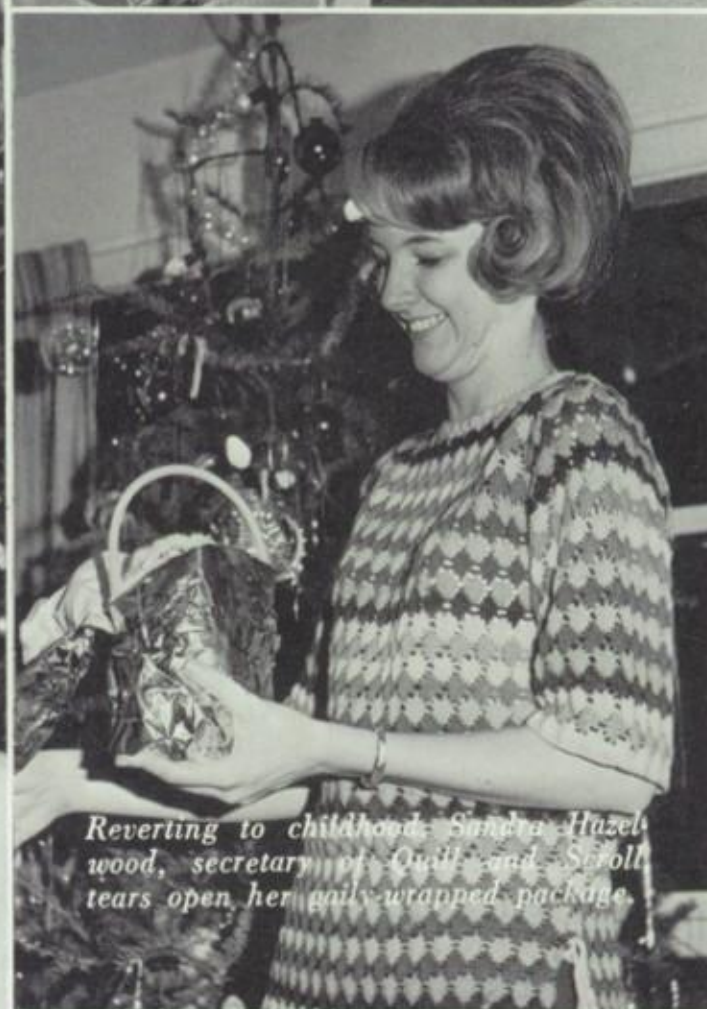

Music is always the favorite of three-year guild members Tommy Shook, Dan Marion, David Witt, Van Alsup, Bob Cross, Mary Lynne Hall, Tim King, Sharon Vernon, Susan Redus, Kay Lincoln, Shirley Perryman and, at the piano, Barry Rowntree.

Quill and Scroll's annual Christmas party sports cookies, presents and lots of fun. Alice Cochran, Vicky Vannoy and Judy Schmidt gather around the tree to exclaim over one of many gifts, a bunny.

A slurp? Yes, president Cayle Hoggan pulls the fuzzy ball of hair out of the box, assured she received the best gift.

Reverting to childhood, Sandra Hazelwood, secretary of Quill and Scroll, tears open her gaily-wrapped package.

Since gifts vary from pop guns to puppy dogs, Teri Sudderth, treasurer, shakes hers in anticipation.

Discussion of the complicated practices and procedures of law is conducted by Mr. John Franklin, sponsor of the Monterey Pre-Law Club.

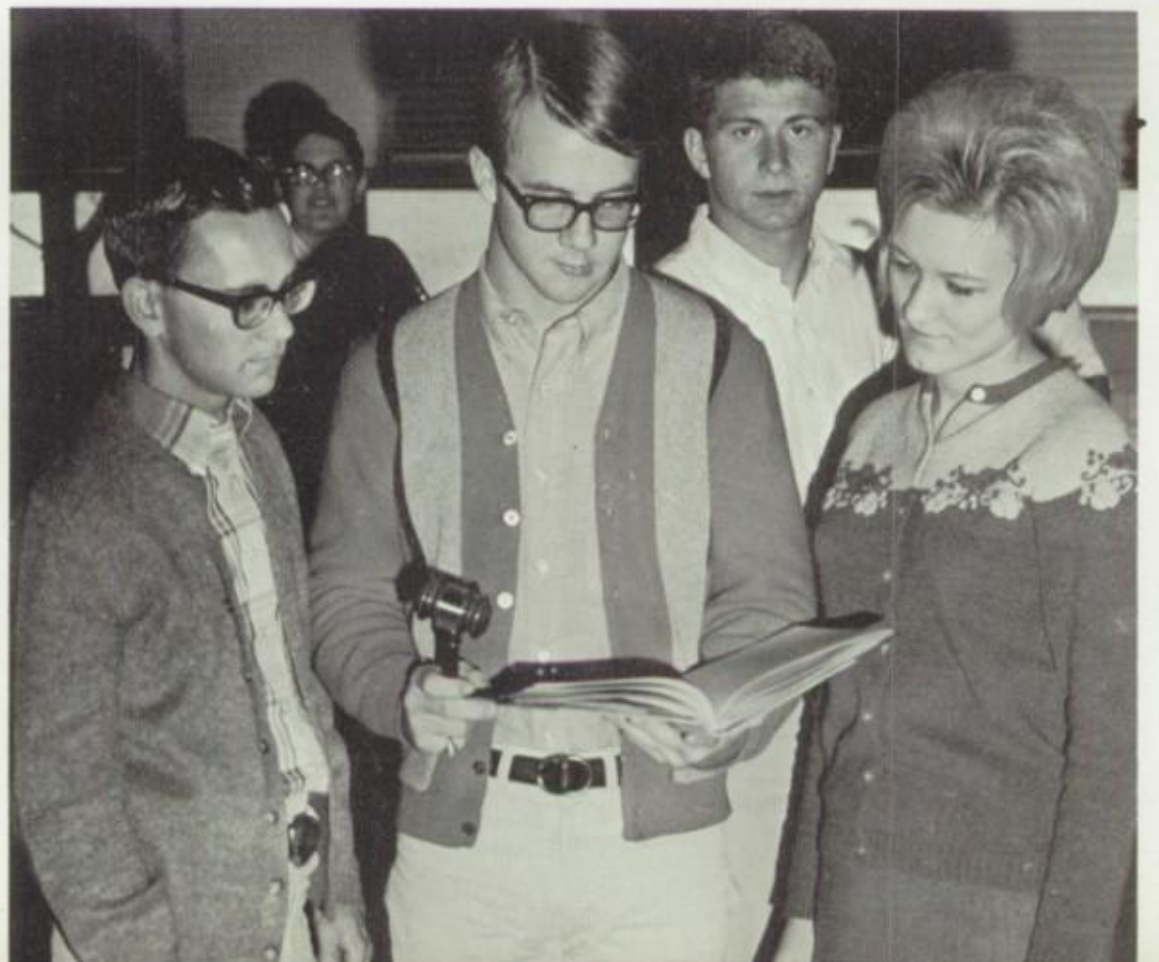

Pre-Law Club officers Eddie Dillard, treasurer, Danny Swanner, president, Jim Eady, vice president and Marilyn James, secretary, check parliamentary procedure.

Prosecuting attorney Jan Morrow coaches her client from the sidelines of an exciting trial. One of the various programs of Pre-Law, the mock trial, enables members to observe the actual proceeding of a court of law.

Novice Lawyers Eye Career

Complex social and business conditions in the world today have created a need for more professional people in the field of law. With this new emphasis, students at Monterey decided that there was a need for a pre-law club. The purpose of such an organization is to encourage those students who plan to study law in college. Programs, such as speeches, professional lawyers and mock trials, provide an insight into the complexities of law.

Library, Chess Clubs Set Contemplative Mood

Quiet concentration is a mutual characteristic of both Chess and Library Clubs. Mr. Donald Ricky, sponsor of the Chess Club, teaches strategy and pointers of the game. Mr. John Mitchell, Library Club sponsor, stresses not only books but appreciation of library uses. Library Club officers include Francis Flake, Linda Lutgens, Jennifer Mc-
Gaughey, Becky Powell and Larry Ward. Officers of the 1966-67 Chess Club are Danny Jones, Butch Bowen and Mike Rippetoe.

High goals are set by Library Club officers as they strive to perfect their library skills. On the ladder from top to bottom are Francis Flake, Linda Lutgens, Jennifer McGaughey, Larry Ward and Becky Powell.

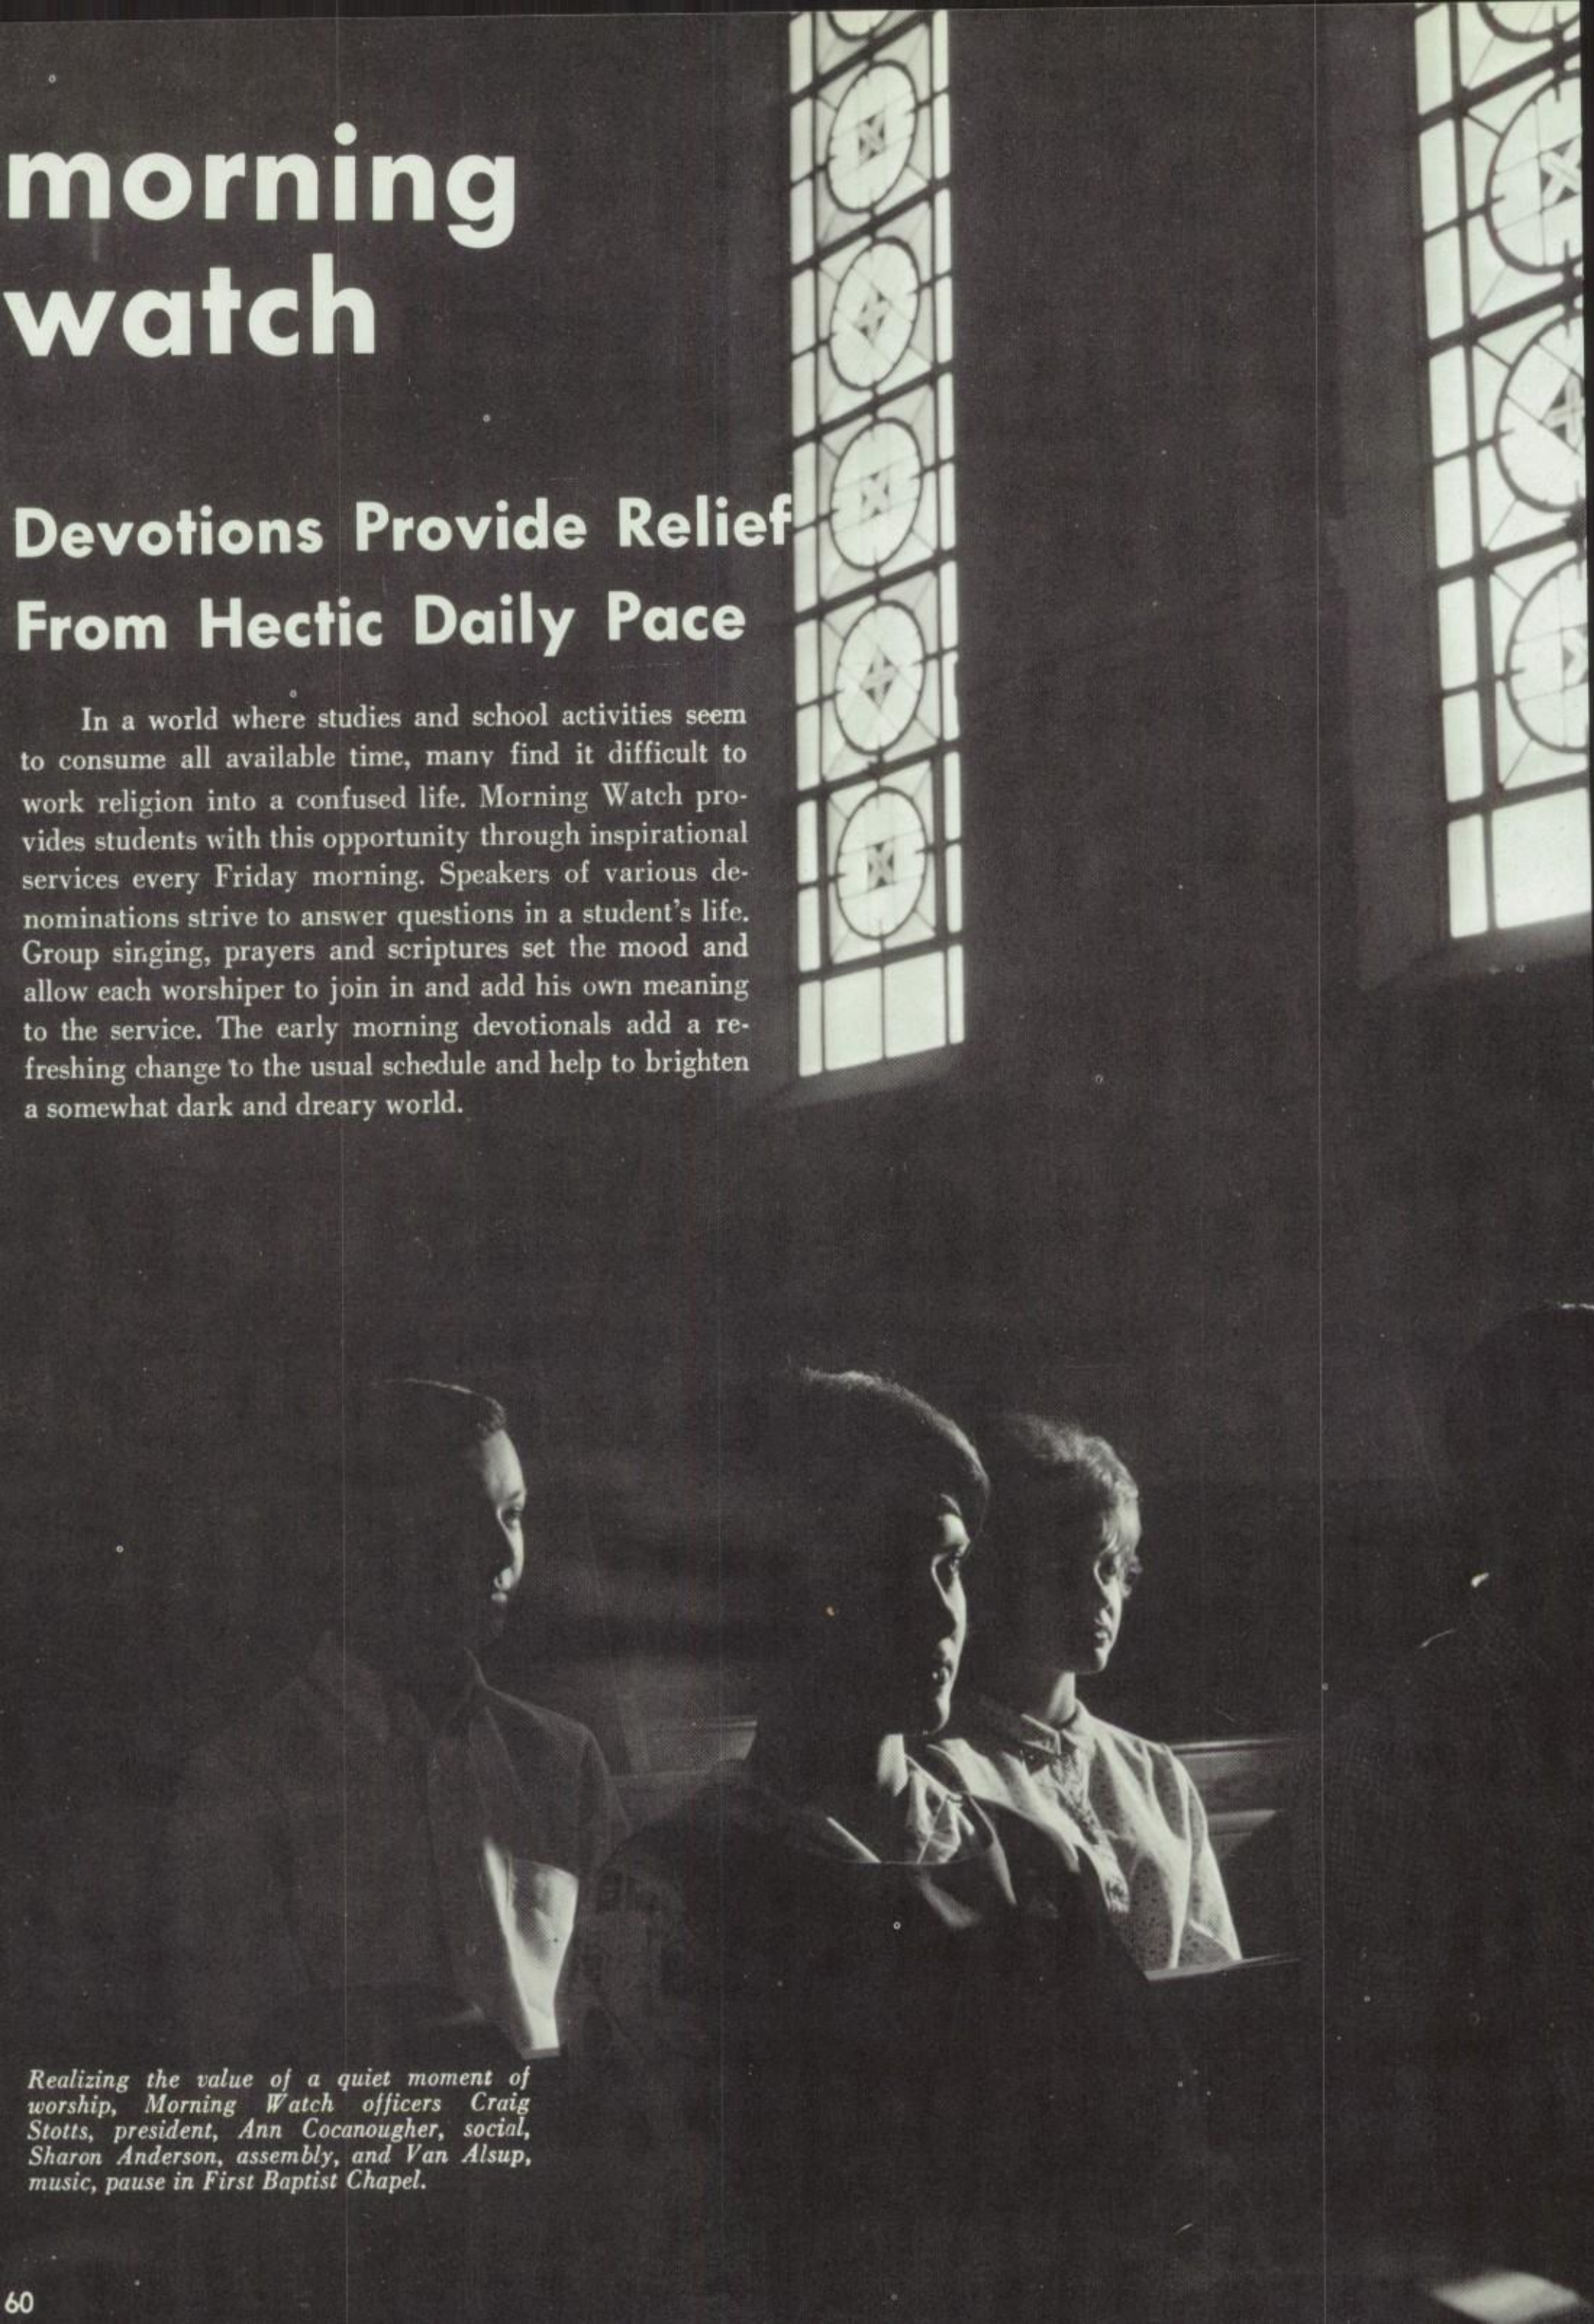

With the organization of a club, chess became a big thing at MHS. President Danny Jones and Vice-president Butch Bowen contemplate their next move.

Devotions Provide Relief From Hectic Daily Pace

In a world where studies and school activities seem to consume all available time, many find it difficult to work religion into a confused life. Morning Watch provides students with this opportunity through inspirational services every Friday morning. Speakers of various denominations strive to answer questions in a student's life. Group singing, prayers and scriptures set the mood and allow each worshiper to join in and add his own meaning to the service. The early morning devotionals add a refreshing change to the usual schedule and help to brighten a somewhat dark and dreary world.

Realizing the value of a quiet moment of worship, Morning Watch officers Craig Stotts, president, Ann Cocanougher, social, Sharon Anderson, assembly, and Van Alsup, music, pause in First Baptist Chapel.

Youth is constantly worried for fear he will make the wrong decision. Even simple matters become monumental ... Would DE or ICT best suit the individual need ... Choir or Band? ... Which talents are best suited for newspaper work? Even after the choice is made doubt continues. One can only seek to make the maximum contribution in whichever situation he finds himself.

New Uniforms Rejuvenate First Class Jr.-Sr. Band

It takes dedicated people, a lot of talent, a bit of hard work, a dash of creativity in an atmosphere of enthusiasm to produce a first place band. For three consecutive years, the Monterey band has placed first in district competition. New red and blue uniforms, issued in December, climaxed a successful football halftime season. Band officers are president, Eddie Dillard; vice president, Linda Wilhite; secretary, Marsha Turner; treasurer, Linda Vaughn; social chairman, Susie Wall; chaplain, Doug McCabe; and historian, Nan Coffman.

With eyes focused only on the director, oboists Janeen Drew and Libby Fowler concentrate on perfecting the rhythmic pattern of a difficult composition.

Band Works From B to A

Alphabetical awareness is felt by B band members, for the preceding letter A denotes the best band in Monterey. Constantly striving to reach the excellence that the A band is noted for, sophomores drill in the skills of the trade. Every year the B band is conscious of its "second place" in the department, but '67 affords something special; the A band discarded their old uniforms to the sophomores.

Preparing less experienced band members for the next two years in a marching band takes many hours of director Rex Shelton's time.

Orchestra Rates Superior In All-State Competition

Cultural strains indicate the advancement of Monterey orchestra students toward excellence. Orchestral talent is presented to the public through various programs, and assemblies are given to the student body. Those students leading the orchestra are: Greg See, president; Marc Parker, vice-president; Janice Rasco, secretary-treasurer; Dana Jones and Steve Brock, publicity. Within the orchestra, a few students rise above the ordinary. These special few gain the opportunity to be a part of All-State and travel to Houston for the state-wide event. This year the entire orchestra was named to All-State, everyone getting a chance to go.

Sober faces reveal the earnest thoughts of the three Monterey All-State winners, Greg See, Steve Brock and Marc Parker.

Hand-waving and mouth-contorting are necessary movements to orchestra teacher Mr. Mitchell Zablony.

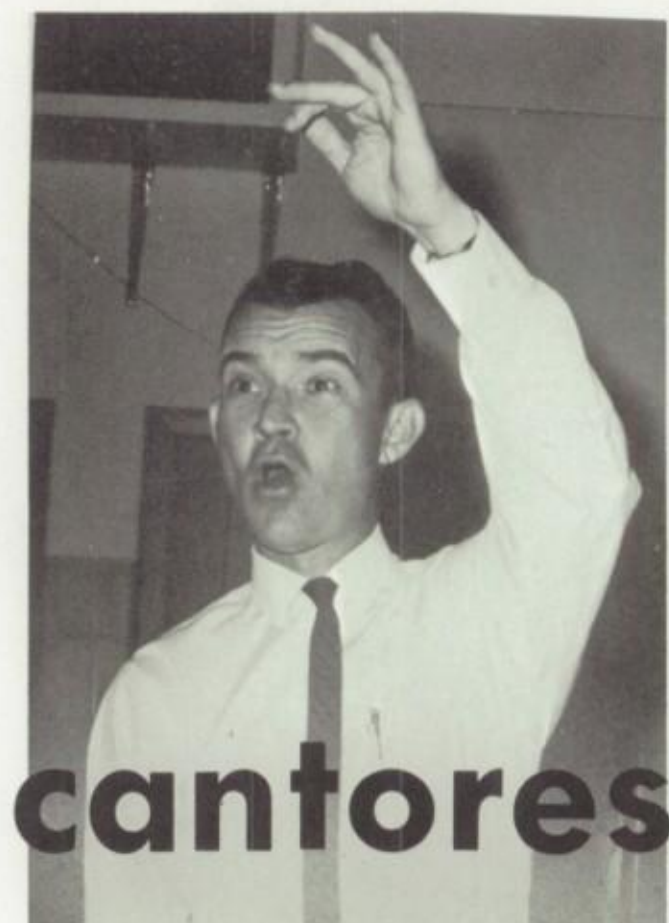

Vying for the top, orchestra officers Janice Rasco, Steve Brock, Greg See, Dana Jones and Marc Parker instrumentally step up.

Cantores Gain City Acclaim For Popular, Folk Music

With choral excellence as their main goal, the Cantores harmonize to gain city acclaim for popular and folk music. The selection of these students, made by choir director James A. Ramsey, is based upon seniority and vocal ability. Assisting Mr. Ramsey in matters concerning choir activities is Cantores President David Messersmith. As the main choir at Monterey, the Cantores set the pace for other Monterey choirs.

"Just once more", says James A. Ramsey as he strives to lead the Cantores to another year of choral perfection.

Choirs Break Routine With 'Sound of Music'

To relieve the monotonous pressure of required studies, Monterey offers electives designed to develop musical talents. Anyone who has the desire to sing can join any four of the auxiliary choirs, the Jr.-Sr. Girl's Glee, Men's Glee, Sophomore Girl's Glee and Sophomore Mariaches. The ultimate goal of the choirs is to be a member of the Cantores. These choirs perform two Monterey assemblies. The Mariaches make an annual appearance at several junior highs.

Staff Records Unique Year in '67 Chaparral

Yearbook staff members work endless hours in perfecting the Chaparral. Patience wears thin and many things must be done and re-done, but when the last copy of the yearbook is distributed in May, a feeling of accomplishment as well as relief surges throughout the publications department. Mrs. Betty Stanley, sponsor, and co-editors, Linda Hayes and Linda Witt, work with section editors and helpers trying to make the '66-'67 Chaparral just a little bit better than the last. The department, which is completely student-run, gives students an opportunity to develop creative talents.

Cropping pictures is no joke, but Kelly Tower, curriculum section editor, finds time to sit down and smile over the situation.

A moment of relaxation and removing of the shoes is a welcome time for a busy sponsor like Mrs. Betty Stanley.

Mirror Staff Inks Busy Year's Story

Molding bi-weekly events into the Monterey Mirror is the task of the school newspaper staff. Proficiency in English, a desire to communicate and a true interest in people are the basic requirements that each staff member must meet. Spice is annually added to the Mirror, for variety always abounds. This variance aids the paper in winning awards each year. The newspaper has received the honor of "best in state" for five consecutive years in its class, the Pace-Maker award in 1963 made it one of the top five in the nation and last year it received the title of Interscholastic League of best in state in any class. These awards are concrete proof of the paper's outstanding merit, but its place in public relations deserves even higher honors.

To be judged a good paper, stories must be clear and concise. Using the dictionary, Ann Porter, copy editor, helps Jerry Teague, sports editor, in finding the right word.

Checking over last minute adjustments, junior photographers Bob Ford and Phil Chisum prepare for another important assignment.

To finance a school newspaper, it is necessary to have an efficient advertising staff. Without the assistance of Garon Raaburn, Elaine Minor, business manager, Jane Sheffield, Jucky Pierce, Mary Lane Chapman and Carolyn Fralin, the Monterey Mirror would not be available to the student body.

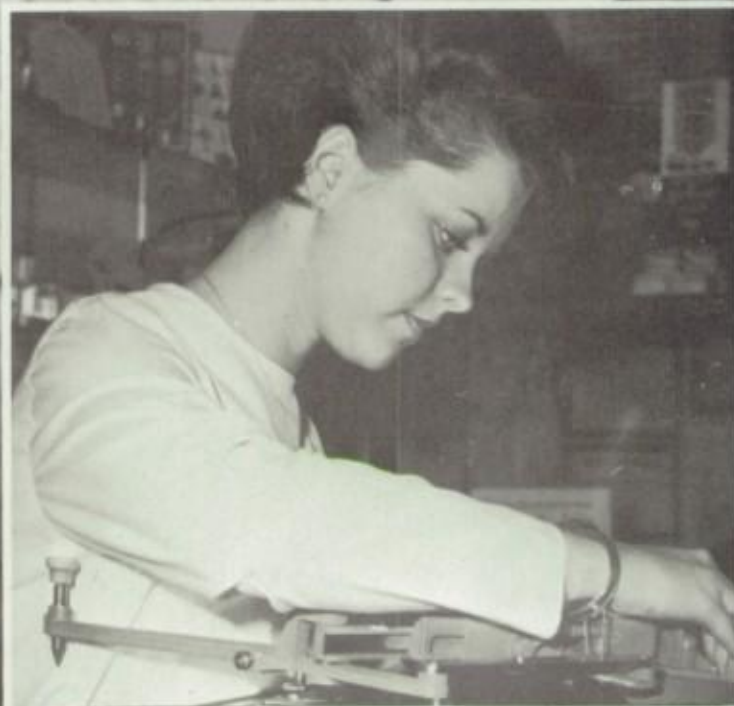

Watching the presses' roll, Gayle Hogan, Amy Hammer, Linda Rice, Trudy Putteet and Elaine Minor examine copies of the Mirror while the ink is still wet.

Employed Students Earn Pay While Working for Diploma

Modern schools recognize individual differences and seek to cater to the needs of individual students. For this reason, Monterey High School includes programs of Distributive Education and Industrial Cooperative Training in the curriculum. Through these departments students who feel a need to work either for financial reasons or in order to supplement the regular high school curriculum, may do so and still graduate on a three year plan. Students enrolled in DE are assigned to job stations around the city and receive a grade on the work they do. ICT students are apprenticed over the city to businesses in which they can learn a specific trade. In order to qualify for either program, a student must be 16 years old, of junior or senior standing and possess honor roll grades.

With a warm smile and calm attitude, Marion Pollard, senior ICT student, assures her patient that the x-ray machine won't bite.

Peons Incite 101% Spirit Encourage Student Support

Sporting bright red shirts and accompanied by the symbolic gong, the Monterey Peons incite school spirit and good sportsmanship. Colorful posters and "101% Plainsmen Spirit" signs made by this booster organization aid in strengthening student body enthusiasm. Encouraging a little extra participation from the spectators, the Peons throw blue miniature footballs into the MHS stands during the gridiron season.

Clanging during pep rallies and games, the Peon gong, symbol of the Boys' Booster Club, inspires spirit throughout the student body.

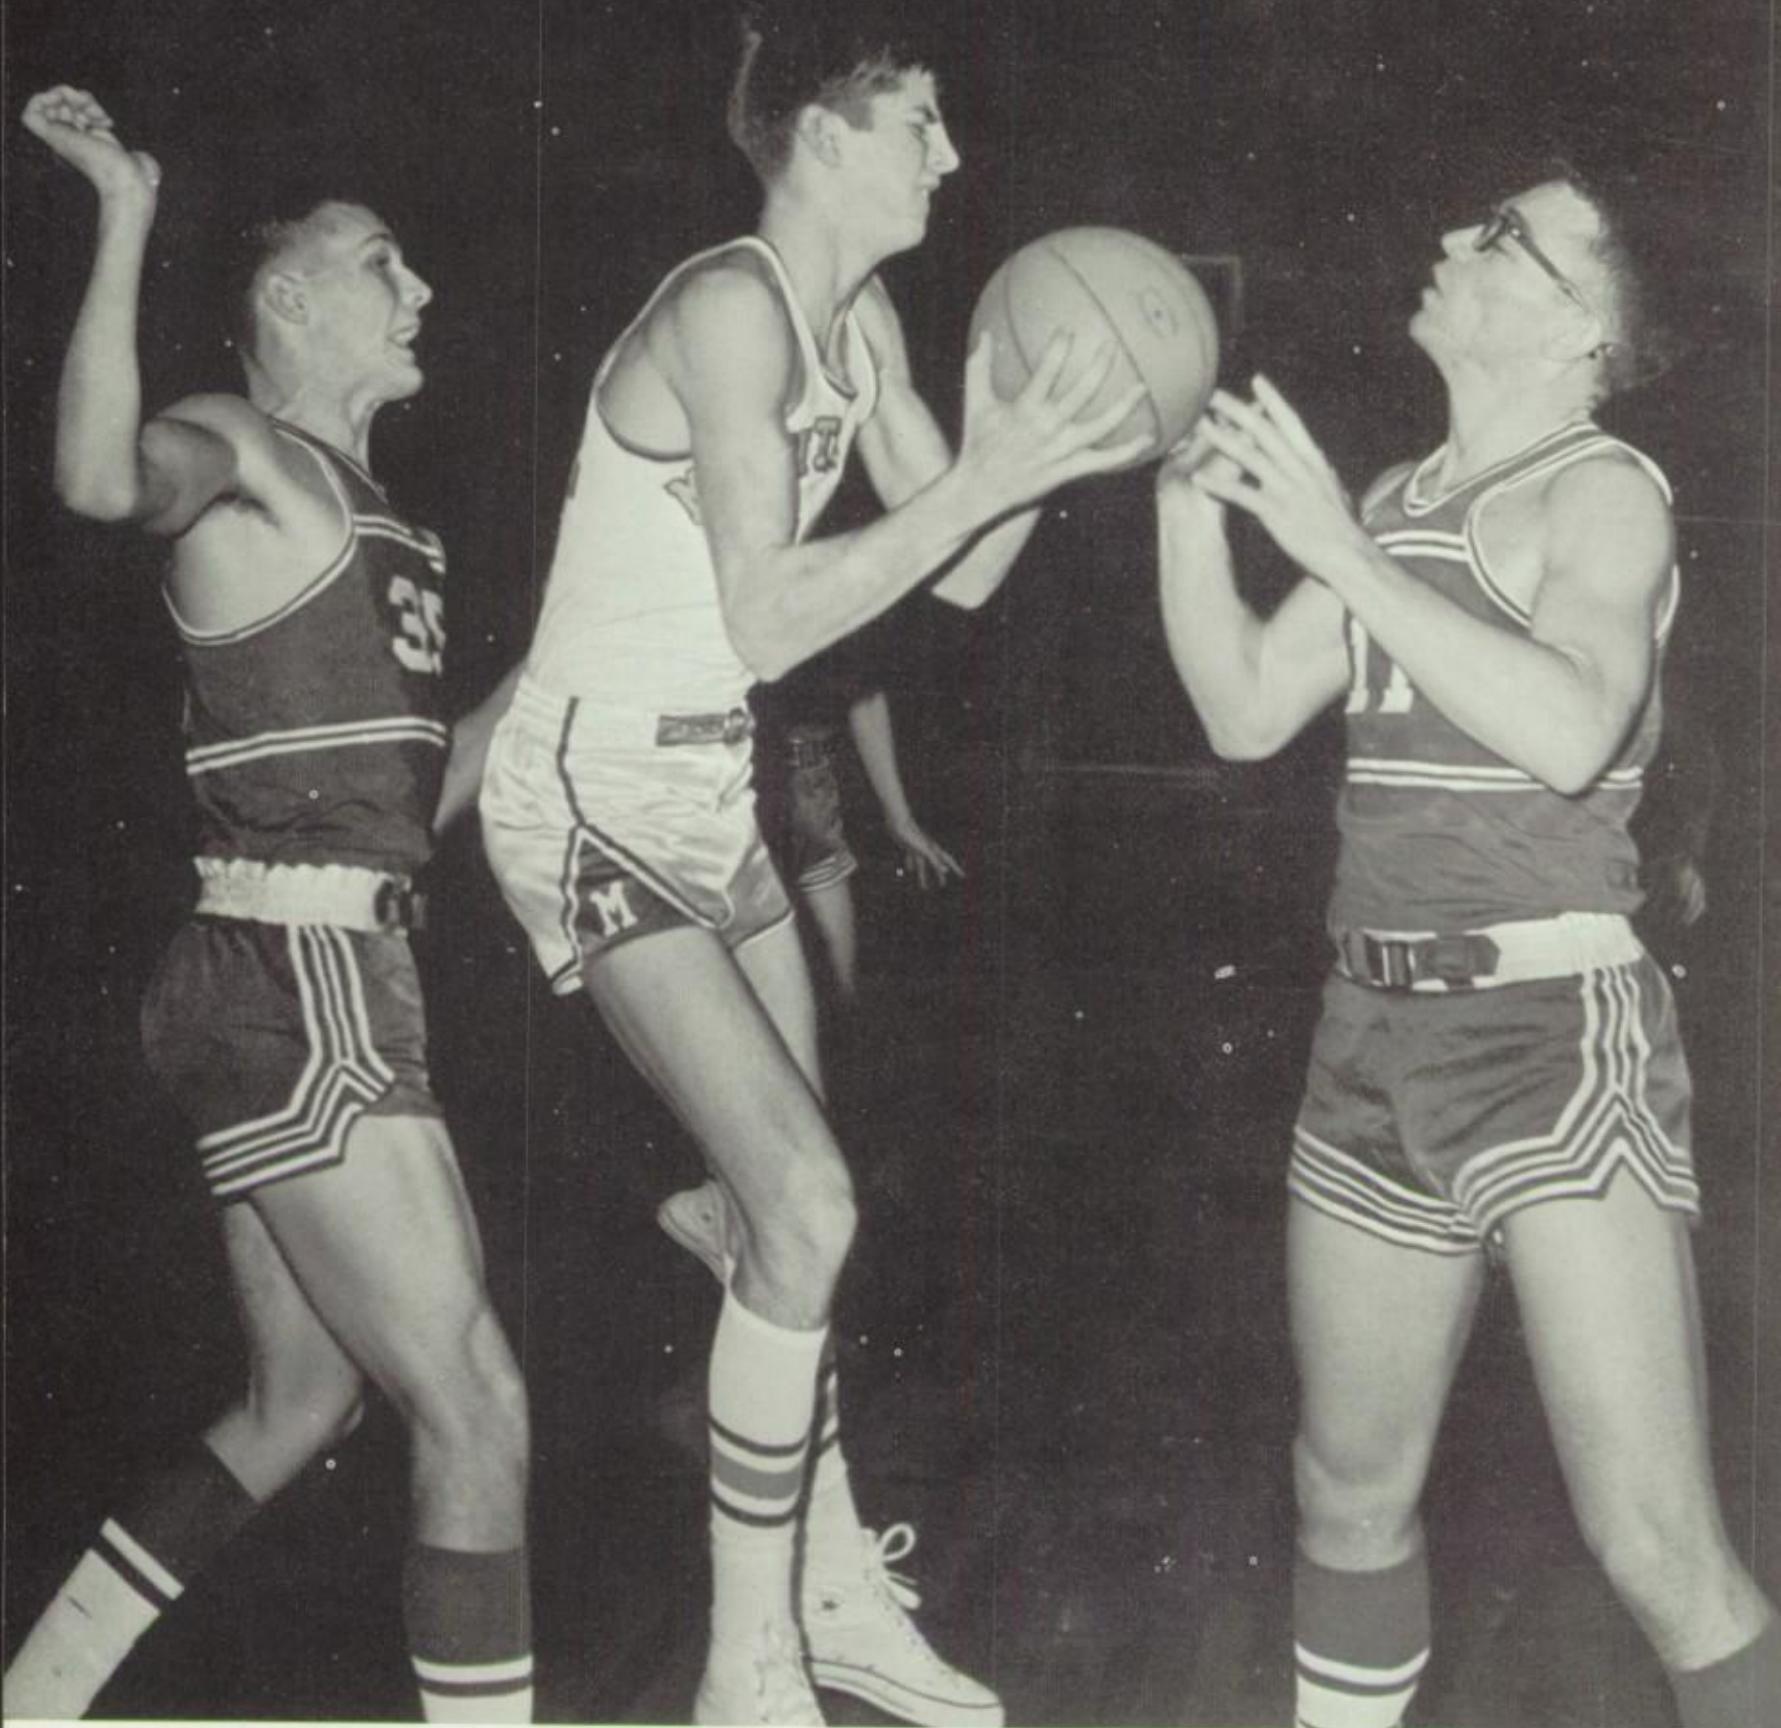

Distributing "101% Plainsmen Spirit" signs to each locker is just one of the many services that a peon like Jim Henry performs.

"Ole ... Ole ... Ole" chants the Big Peon David Hess encouraging the student body to support its 'Men.

Netter Pat Kelly:

Athletics was a question mark as the year began . . . could the fantastic record of last year be equaled? . . . Football had only one offensive starter returning . . . basketball had a brand new five who would face a tough district . . . tennis had a new coach . . . Could Monterey once again bring home an All-Sports Trophy? Everyone knew that spirit was the big factor and it wasn't long until that question was answered positively.

Cheerleaders Spark Spirit To Ignite Big Red

Populated by 1800 students, Monterey is a big school with big spirit. Spirit is not just the loud yell that sparks the football team on to push those final yards for the winning touchdown. Spirit is also the tear-filled eye that watches a defeated team return to a locker room that has seen victory and defeat but cares little for either. Yes, Monterey has big spirit and it remains big—win or lose. But spirit does not just happen, it must be ignited. The spirit of the school comes from an obligation not to let the team down. The burden of awakening a student body to its obligation of dedication and loyalty to its team rests on the shoulders of seven girls. Monterey is a big school and the big spirit that could have been left sleeping was awakened and brought to a peak by the MHS cheerleaders.

Youth and inexperience were the key words in describing the 1966 Plainsmen. Facing all the challenges of being defending champions, the Plainsmen compiled a three and one district record in tying for the North Zone championship. Falling victim to the toss of a coin, however, Monterey lost the chance to represent the zone in the district playoff against Tascosa.

Cross-town rivalry became a pleasant thing as the Plainsmen first downed Coronado High 14 to 8 in the season opener. MHS scored the first time they touched the ball in the 1966 season. Tailback Randy Surratt returned Coronado's opening kickoff for an 88 yard touchdown.

Even more pleasant was the game with Lubbock High for the coveted Silver Spurs. Rated a toss-up by local sports observers, the MHS 43 to 0 victory proved to be the widest margin ever in a Spur Game. The Plainsmen easily polished off Lubbock High's hapless Westerners, and the Silver Spurs rest on the white satin pillow in Monterey's showcase.

The seven and three overall record was better than most people predicted because the 'Men returned only one offensive starter and just three more from the 1965 defensive unit.

Plainsmen Rattle CHS, Fall to Panther Surge

Monterey split two victories in their season openers by dropping infant Coronado 14-8 and losing to defending state champion Odessa Permian. On the opening kickoff against Coronado, Randy Surratt raced 88 yards to score in the early seconds of the game. Jimmie Stiles booted the conversion and Monterey led 7-0. The Plainsmen defense held off the pesky Mustangs long enough for Larry Haynes to take a mid-field fumble, halting Coronado's initial drive.

Wingback Melvin Billups received a Stiles pass in the second quarter and stormed his way into the end zone, completing the 37 yard pass play. With Stiles's conversion, the score was 14-0. Rising to the occasion, Monterey preserved the eventual 14-8 victory.

Plainsmen fumbles gave Permian a 17-7 victory. Playing far better football than the week before, Monterey was nip-and-tuck with Odessa until the final minutes of play. Tailback Randy Surratt scored from one yard out and with Stiles's conversion, the Plainsmen scored all their points in the second quarter.

Randy Franks's interception late in the game set up the final tally when Stiles passed 15 yards to Wayne Whitaker. The final score was 28-0, MHS.

The Thunderbirds from El Paso Coronado High invaded Lowrey Field the following week and escaped with a 16-10 victory. Tailback Randy Surratt scored from 49 yards away and Stiles's conversion made the score 7-0.

Unable to score until the fourth period, Coronado managed to go ahead 8-7 on a touchdown and two-point conversion.

Plainview's Bulldogs played host to the improving Plainsmen and were flattened by a score of 27 to 0. Randy Surratt did the honors on the first drive with a 15 yard blast. Third quarter action saw the score standing 7-0 after Jimmie Stiles's successful conversion.

A one yard dive by Stiles and a fumble recovery by Rodolfo Rangel, both accounting for touchdowns, upped the score to 21 to 0. Junior Less Shipley closed the scoring with a 28 yard reception from Stiles.

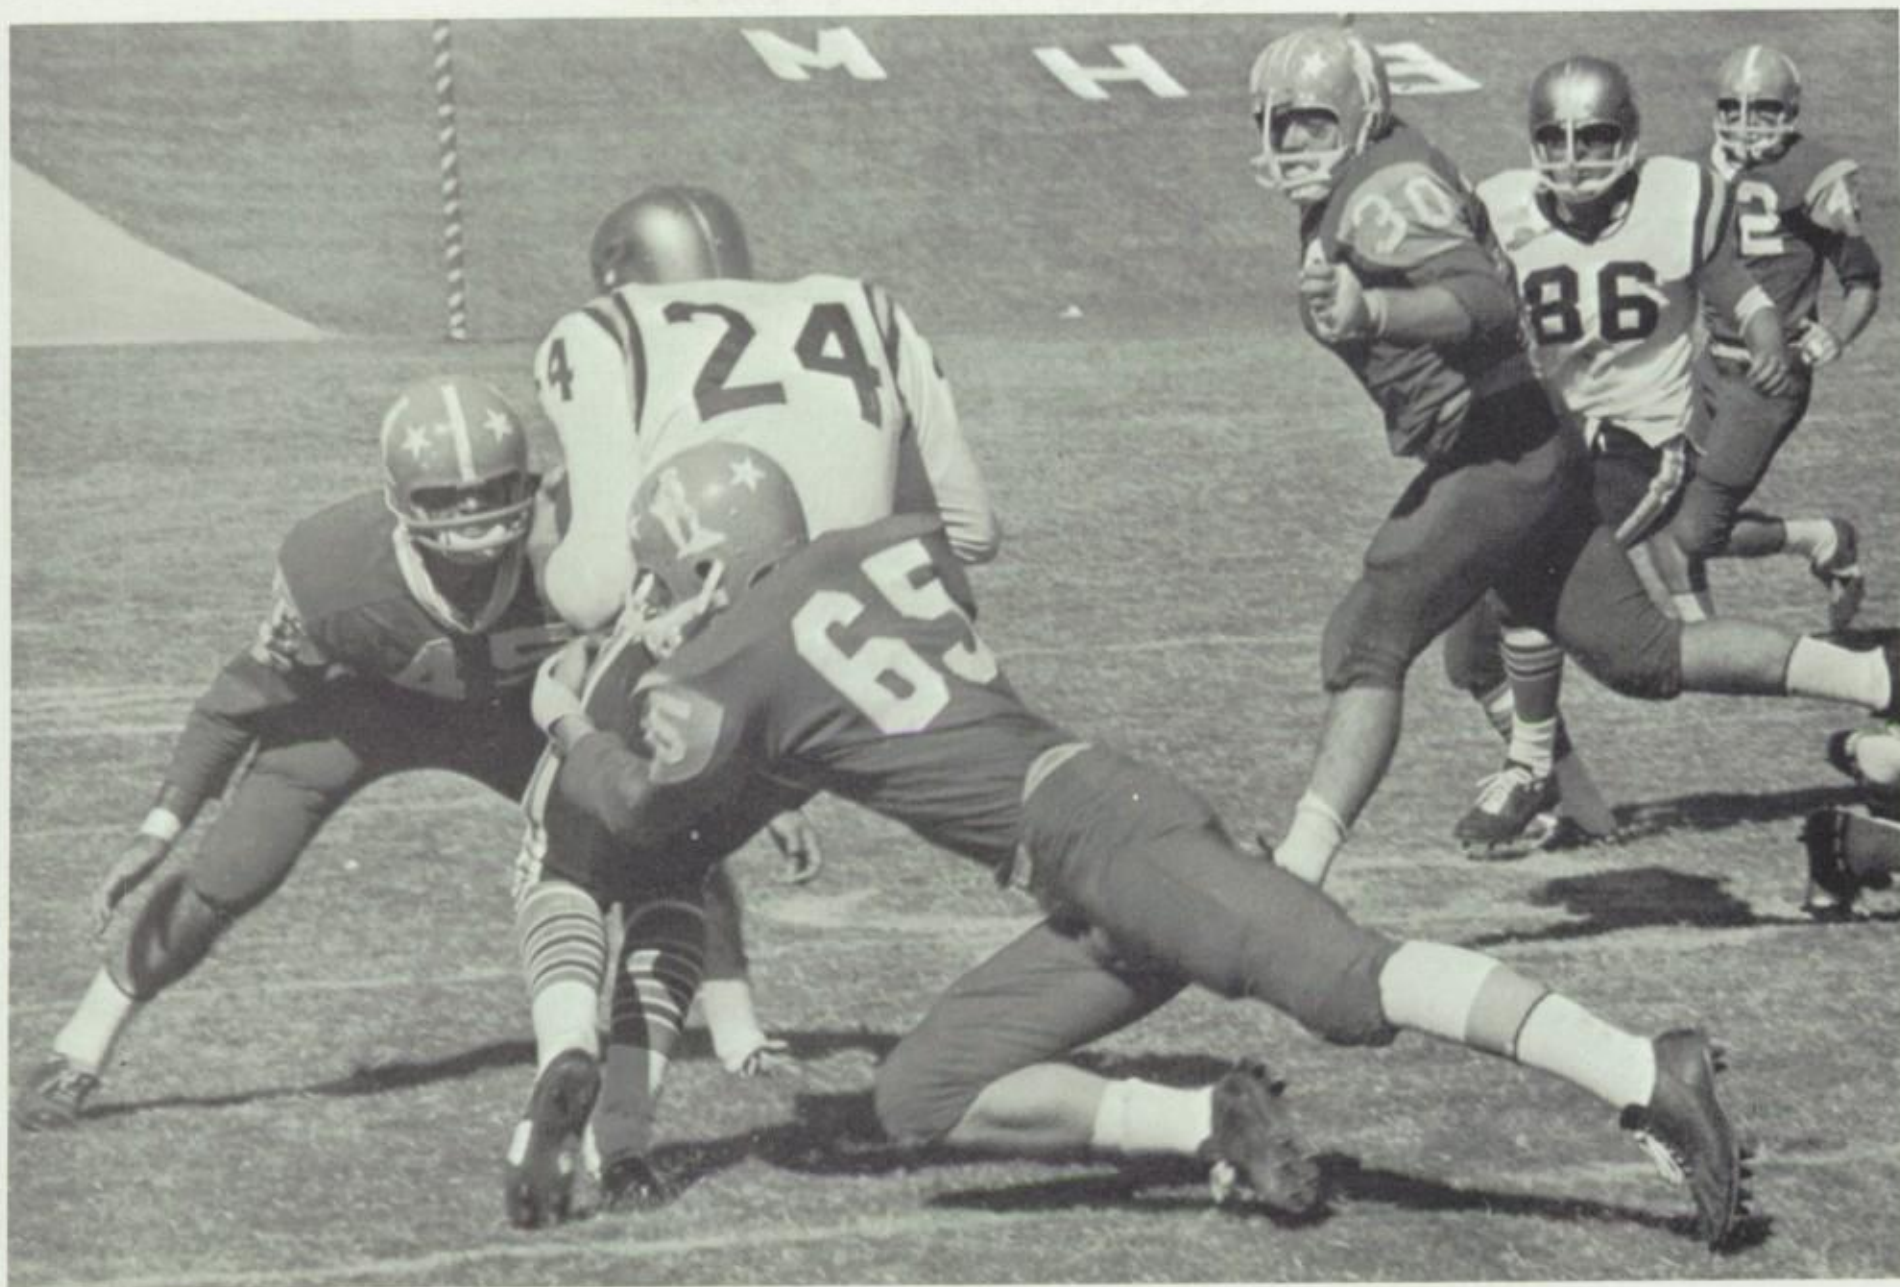

District competition opened with North Zone opponent Pampa. Not scoring until the second quarter, Monterey managed seven points on Surratt's one yard plunge and a Stiles conversion. The final score was 7-6 as Pampa failed on an attempt for the two point conversion.

'Men Win Silver Spurs, Eliminate Sandies, 28-14

Lubbock High challenged Monterey in the annual battle for the silver spurs. The Plainsmen rose to the occasion and smeared the Westerners 43-0. The game was the most lop-sided victory in the history of the series.

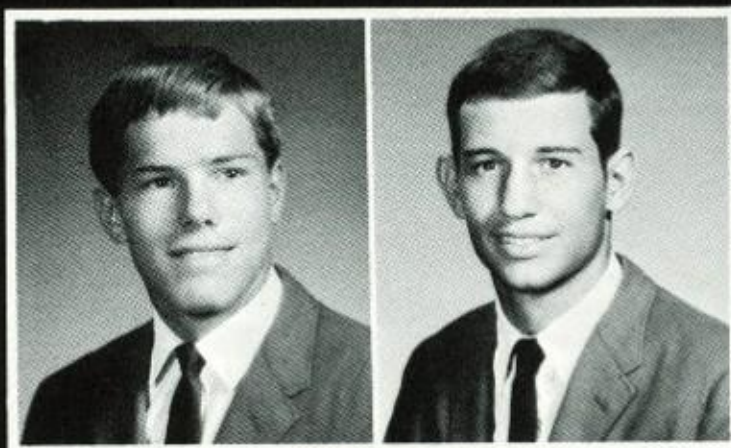

Tailback Randy Surratt opened the game's scoring with a first quarter tally on a four yard run. Early in the second quarter, Monterey quarterback Jimmie Stiles piled in from two yards out. Another first half score came on Bobo Hester's 59 yard run with an intercepted pass.

In the second half of play, Monterey scored on Chris Barnard's one yard dive, David Ross's seven yard pass reception, and Melvin Billup's three yard smash. The defensive unit scored again on a safety as the LHS quarterback was tackled in the end zone. Stiles's kicks for the PAT were good on all but one attempt.

Faced with a do-or-die situation, Monterey launched an explosive power offense which netted 469 yards to the Sandies' respectable 247 yards. Monterey took the initiative and scored first, this time on Scott Cassel's 15 yard run.

In the second quarter, Randy Surratt hit paydirt on a 71 yard excursion through the middle of the Sandie defense. Junior Less Shipley hauled in a 14 yard pass from Jimmie Stiles to make the score 20-0.

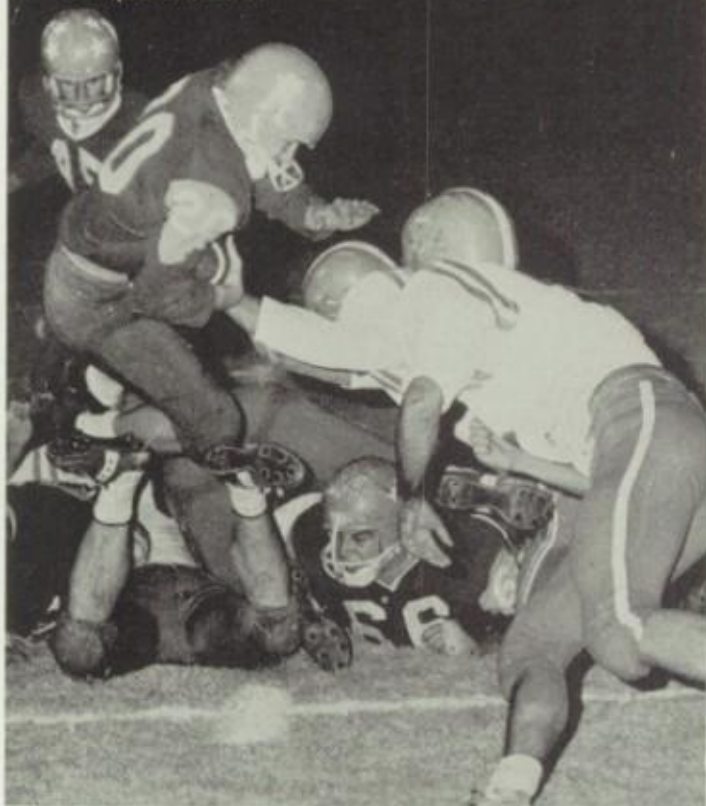

Stiles's scored on a 17 yard quarterback keeper-play, and successfully converted after each of Monterey's touchdowns. Tailback Randy Surratt set a record for rushing with 188 yards. Because of injuries, Surratt missed most of the third and all of the fourth quarter action.

Falling victim to an inspired Borger squad, Monterey failed to clinch a North Zone championship. Though leading 7-0 through most of the contest, the Plainsmen were unable to control the game and the Bulldogs' fourth quarter touchdown and two-point conversion proved fatal. Monterey's lone score came on a three yard slant by Chris Barnard. Stiles's conversion accounted for the 8-7 final score.

By defeating Caprock's pesky Longhorns, Monterey moved into a three-way tie for the zone championship with Borger and Amarillo High. Junior end Les Shipley hauled in a 14 yard pass from Stiles for Monterey's first score. Tailback Chris Barnard tallied on a one yard dive, making the score 13-7. Stiles's two kicks for the PAT were good, final score 14-7, Monterey. The Plainsmen lost the coin toss to decide the North Zone representative to the district championship playoff.

MHS Varsity Gridders Cop All-district Title

Post season selections for positions on the all-district teams were dominated by powerhouse Tascosa, but nine Plainsmen were honored in the polls. The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal listed four Plainsmen on the first string units. Team captain Jimmy O'Jibway paced the district at his offensive guard post and Junior Wayne Whitaker won acclaim for his play at defensive end.

Randy Franks and Jimmie Stiles, both also captains, were honored for their defensive work, Franks at linebacker and Stiles at cornerback. Receiving honorable mention from this release were senior linebacker Ronnie Gerron, defensive halfback Bobo Hester, tailback Randy Surratt, and tackle Dennis Phillips.

The Coaches' All-district team included only berths on the first string units. Again Jimmy O'Jibway set the pace at offensive guard. junior end Less Shipley earned his position on the offensive unit because of his end play.

Defensive selections included three Plainsmen. Linebacker Randy Franks was honored because of skill and Wayne Whitaker's end play garnered his appointment. Jimmie Stiles's accomplishments in the defensive backfield led to his being named all-district cornerback.

Plainsmen quarterback Jimmie Stiles rolls out on an option play in action against Caprock. Stiles (45) receives good blocking from tackle Gary Jones (75).

Lancers Place Third In District Scramble

The Monterey Lancers ended their season with a 7-2-1 ledger. Led by the able coaching of Ted Simon and Neal Wilcox, the Lancers showed improvement each game. The Lancers were barely nudged by district champion Amarillo 29-21. Earlier, they crushed Coronado's Ponies 48-8 and battled Lubbock High to a 12-12 tie. Competition was stiff and their record placed them third in district.

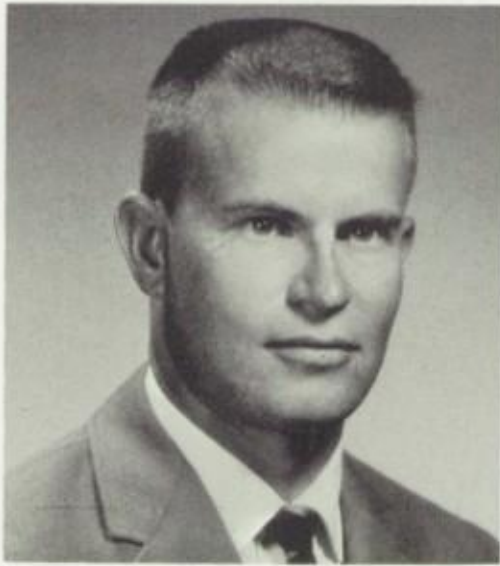

The Lancers displayed better-than-average offensive power as they outscored their opponents 245-140. Cited for outstanding offensive play were junior Ronald Sumners and sophomore Homer May. Defense played a very important part in the Lancers' record and was especially important in the romp over the Coronado JV. Leading the defensive department were linebacker Sammy Irwin and Larry Huckabay. Ted Simon completed his career as a coach at Monterey after eleven successful years.

Two Texan victories came at the expense of the Coronado B-team. Led by Bubba Barnard, the Texans pulled by Coronado 8-0 in their first encounter. Chris Galanos and Robert Vittitow led the charge as the Texans conquered Coronado B-team for the second time 12-0. Given the nod for outstanding defensive play during the year were Steve Hubbard, Larry Maze and Larry Rutherford. Close games came in spurts for the junior varsity as they dropped a 6-8 thriller to Coronado and lost to Lubbock High in a heartbreaker 6-7. Even though these were losing efforts, the coaches praised the Texans for outstanding team effort. The Texans were composed entirely of sophomores.

Battling Plainsmen

Narrowly Miss Share of District Title

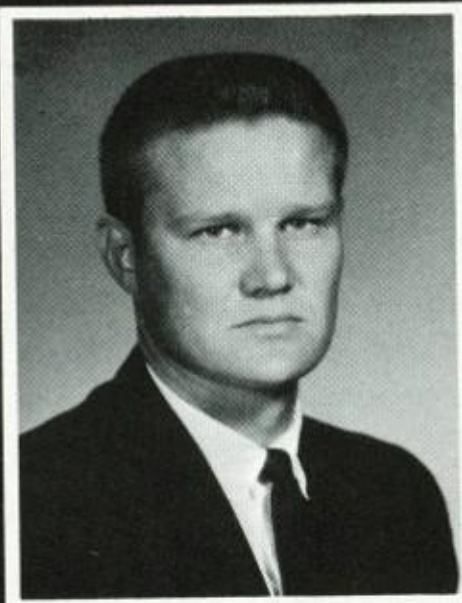

Having won the coveted 3-AAAA District crown in 1966, the '67 version of the Monterey High School basketball team was a solid choice to cop the honors again. Although the Plainsmen did not win the crown, they compiled an impressive 24-7 season record.

Facing some of the best teams in the state, the 'Men were able to take the championship trophy at the Irving and Caprock tournaments. The Plainsmen were tripped in the championship game of the Abilene Tournament, 63-61, in one overtime.

Going into district action, the Plainsmen owned a six-one non-district record and were fresh from the Irving win. The Plainsmen lost their momentum and were beaten in their first district game by Coronado, 53-46. The first half of district play saw the Plainsmen compile a six-three record, and lose a thriller to first round champion Amarillo High by a score of 43-42.

With new hopes, the Plainsmen began the second round of loop play. Plagued with foul trouble throughout the game, the 'Men were again surprised by the Mustangs. Determined to win the remaining games in order to have a chance at the title, Monterey unleashed a six game winning streak which saw them crush the eventual district champion Amarillo High by a score of 55-40.

Monterey's title hopes were dealt a fatal blow when the Plainsmen dropped a heart-breaker to the Tascosa Rebels, 47-46. The one remaining game was with traditional cross-town rival, Lubbock High. Playing a "run-and-gun" game coupled with tough defense, the Plainsmen smothered the Westerners 65-43. In the end, Monterey had defeated the best teams that the district had to offer, but the best goals are not always reached, and the Plainsmen fell short by just "a matter of inches."

Non-district competition saw the Plainsmen compile a 6-1 record. Danny Sledge (54) and Gary Wright (30) stretch for a loose ball in the Midland-Lee game. Senior Dale Lewis (12) looks on.

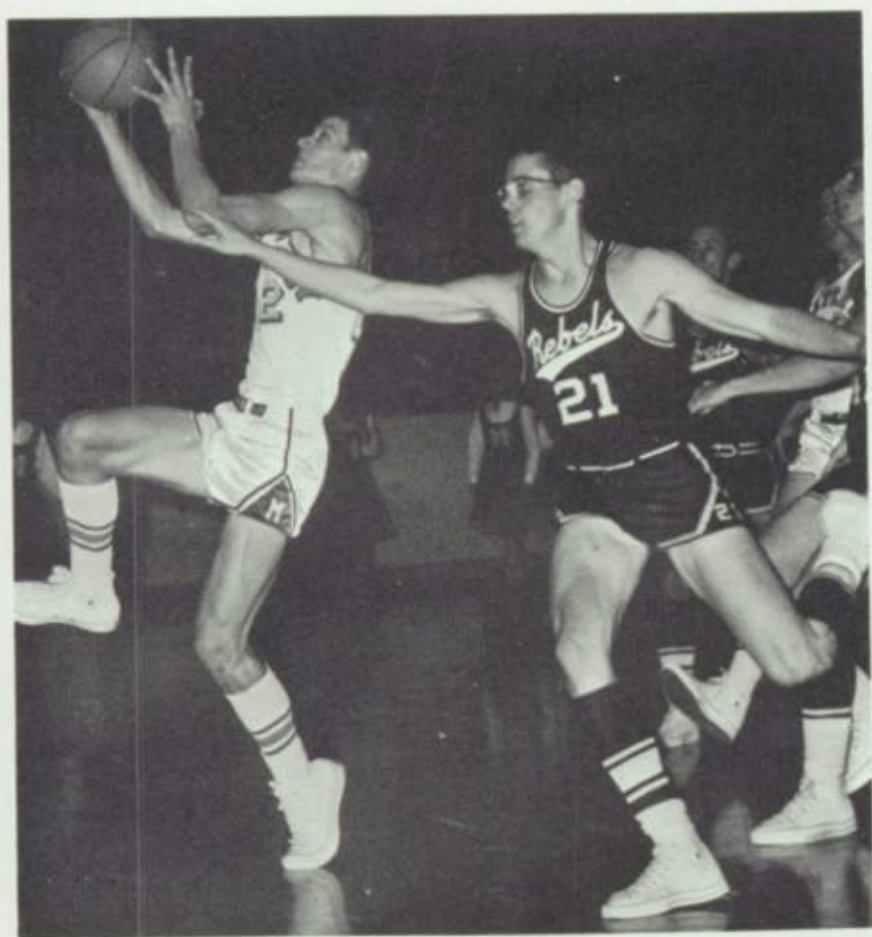

Plainsmen Begin Season With Impressive Wins

Entering district competition, the Plainsmen possessed an impressive 6-1 won-lost record. Disaster struck as the Plainsmen fell to Midland in the first encounter of the season 40-35.

The 'Men bounced back to smash Midland Lee 83-69. Gale Lewis and Danny Sledge hit for 14 and 13 points respectively to lead the Plainsmen to their first victory.

The Plainsmen downed San Angelo on the strength of their rebounding and shooting. Eight Plainsmen fired into the scoring column with Steve Hurt setting the pace with 13 points. Employing a full court press the whole game, the 'Men dumped Odessa Permian 63-56 for victory number three. Gary Wright and Gale Lewis combined talents for 31 points to lead the attack.

Sporting a 3-1 record, the Plainsmen journeyed to the Irving Invitational Tournament to defend the title they won last year. Showing improved defense, the 'Men rolled to three straight victories, and copped their second championship trophy in two years at Irving. Randy Andrews and Steve Hurt were named to the All-Tournament team. Next was the district race and the first roadblock for the Plainsmen was District 3-AAAA's newest member, Coronado.

Muscles tense, Rick Dyer (22) concentrates on making a layup in the victory over Midland Lee Rebels.

Danny Sledge (54) lofts a shot over a Permian defender during the 63-56 victory.

Tournament Play Preps 'Men For Loop Action

The Plainsmen met cross-town rival Coronado in the initial district encounter. The Mustangs shocked the Plainsmen 53-46. Gary Wright led the 'Men with 10 points while three teammates racked up eight points each.

At the Abilene Tournament, the 'Men whizzed by their first two opponents and met Abilene Cooper in the championship game. The Plainsmen played strongly, but came up on the short end of the score—63-62.

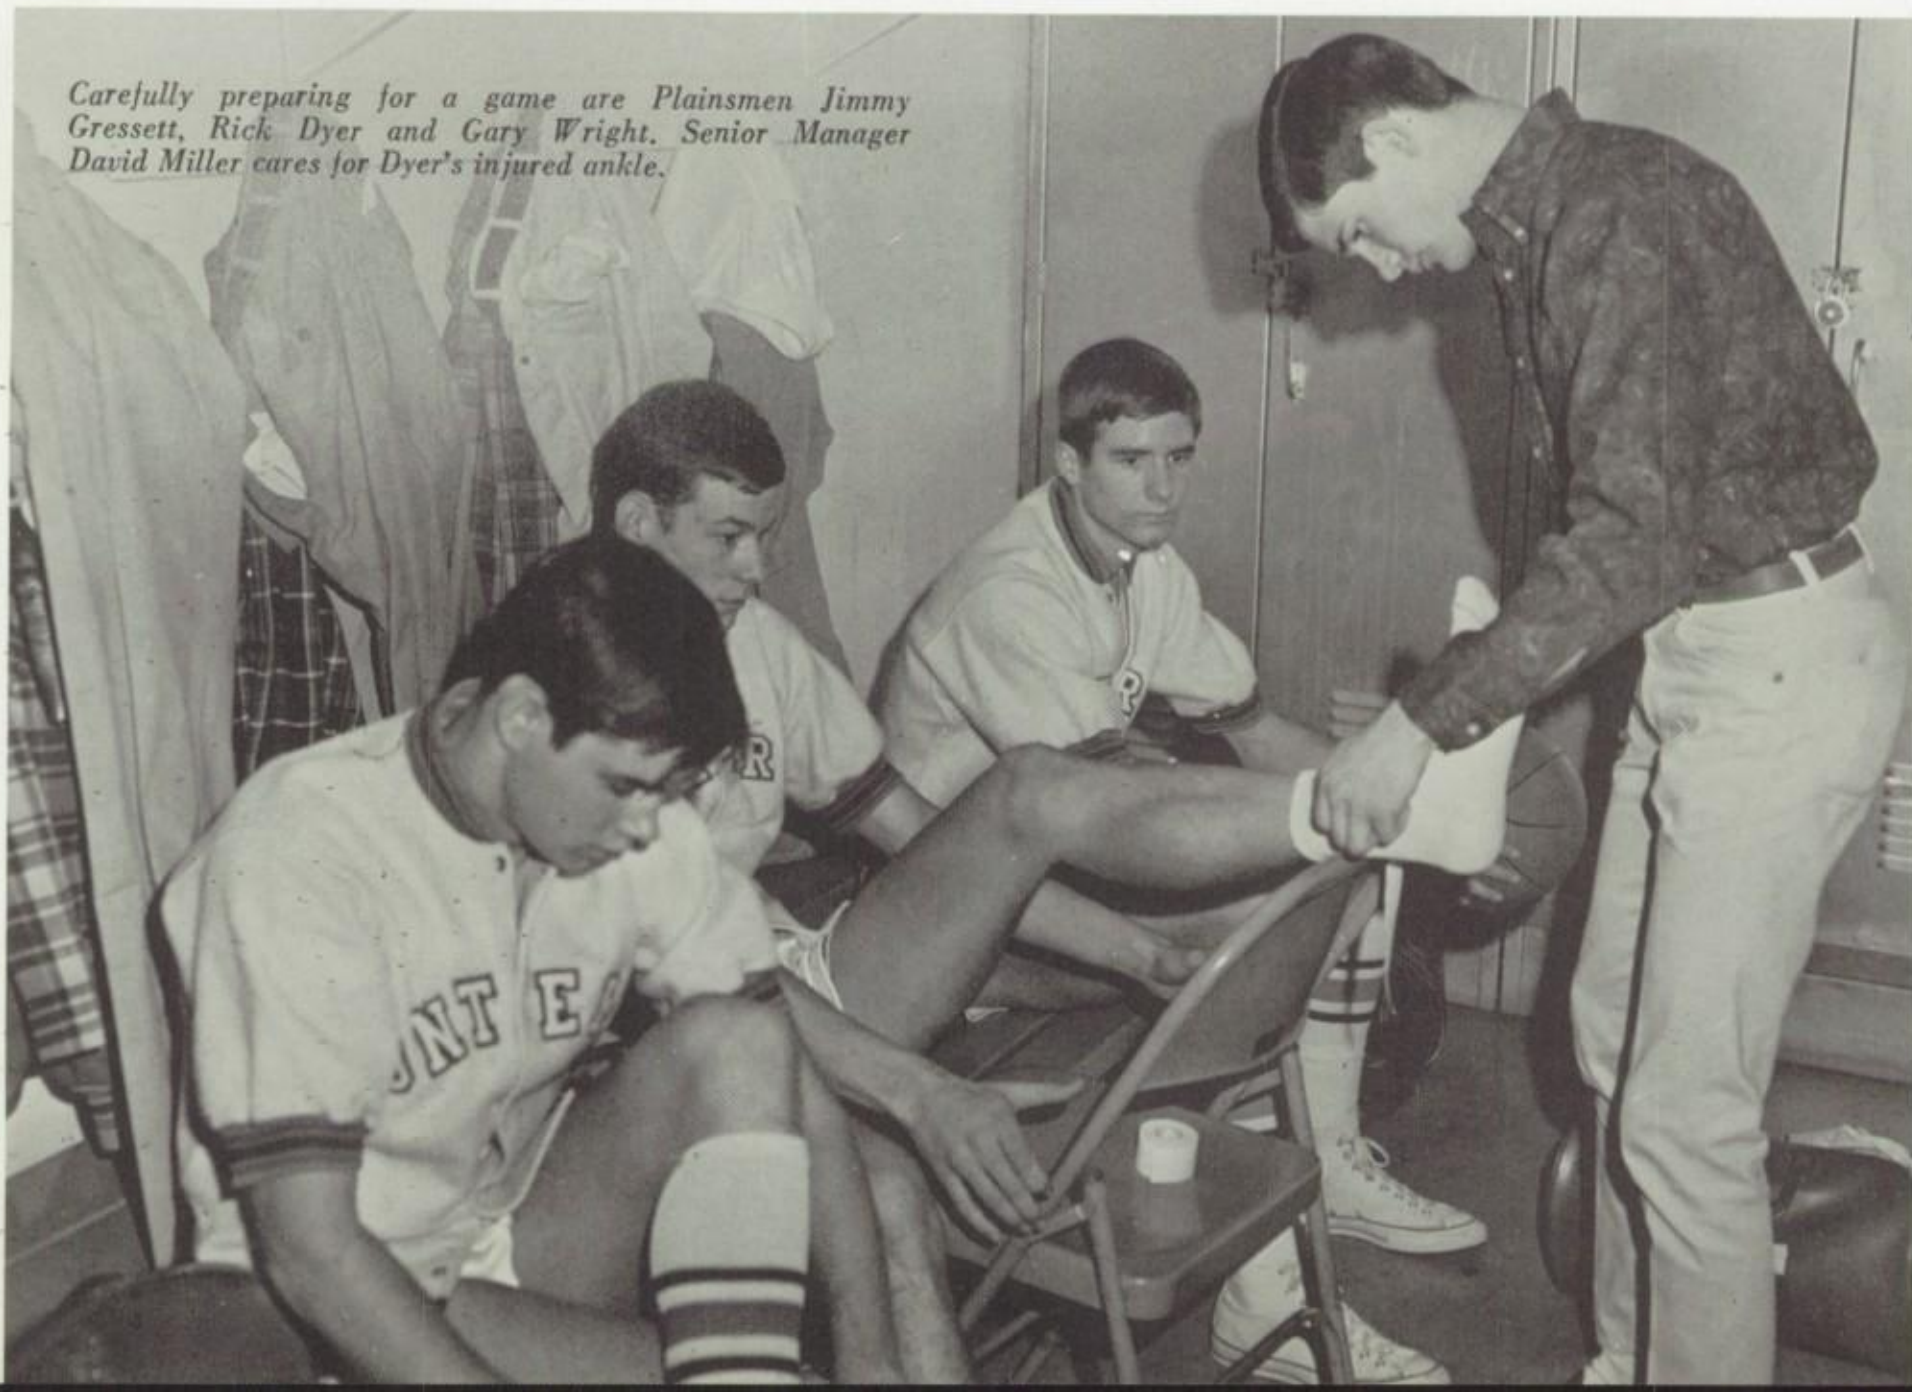

The Plainsmen returned to loop play against Borger beating them 56-43. Steve Hurt hit for 22 points while Danny Sledge was the team's leading rebounder. Holding off a late Pampa rally, the Plainsmen racked up their second district victory, 52-48. Defense was the Plainsmen forte as they gained an 11 point lead in the fourth quarter. Steve Hurt canned 22 points.

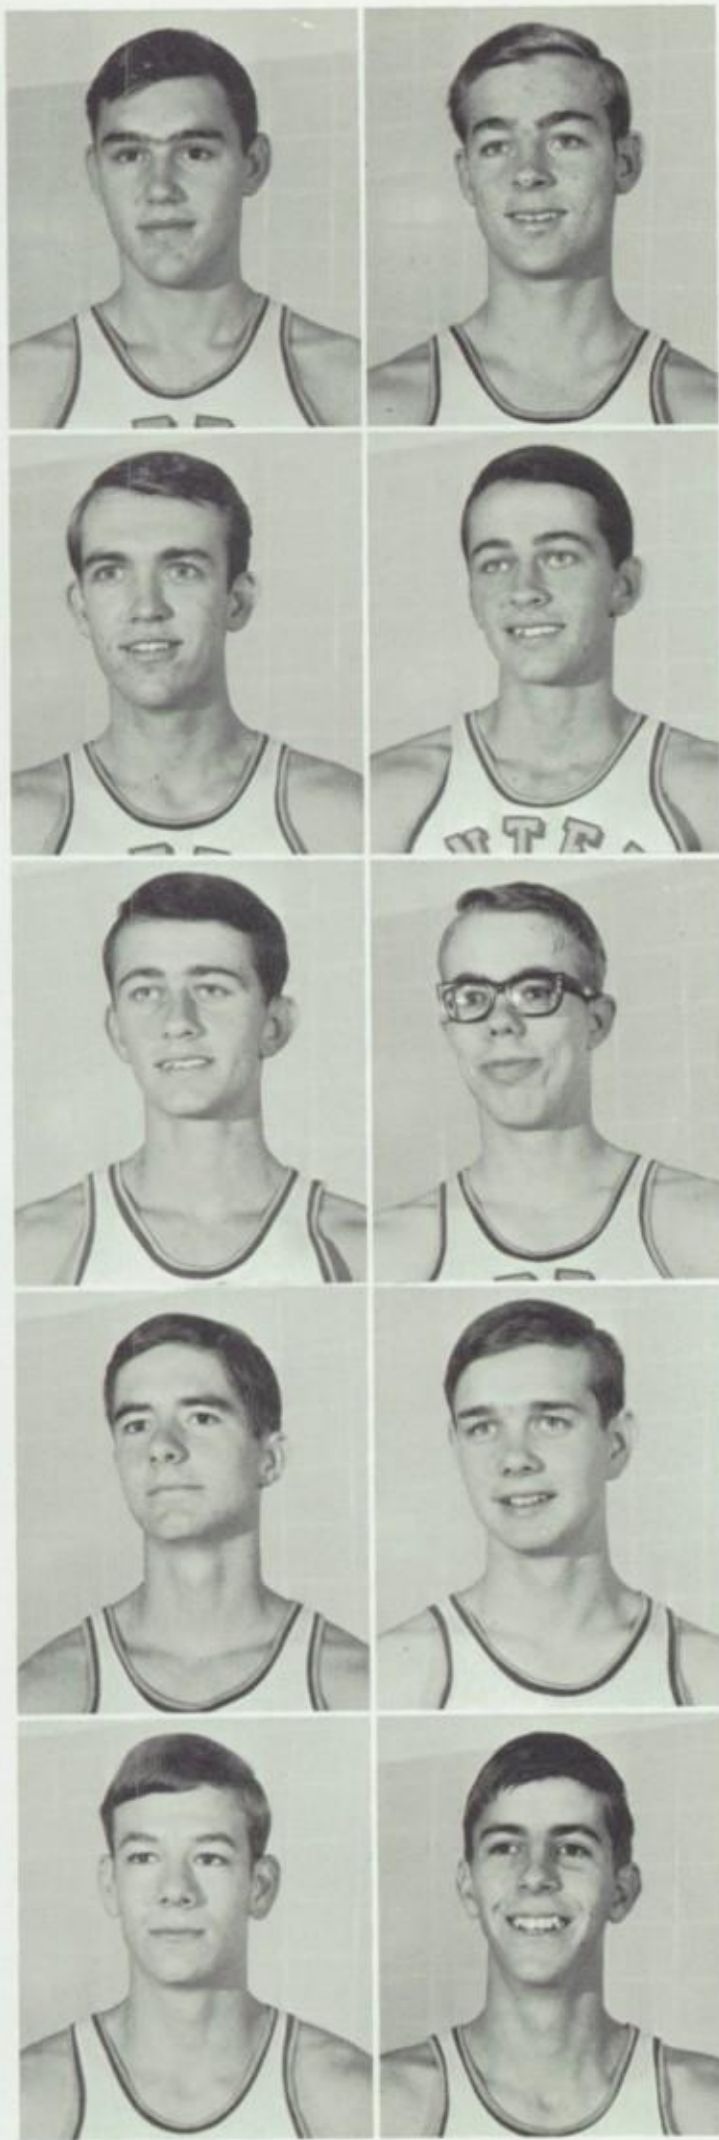

Plainview's Bulldogs toppled before the 'Men 44-42 as their last minute surge fell short. Danny Sledge collected 15 points. The 'Men's second loss in district play came against the hot Palo Duro Dons 47-43 putting them out of the first round contention.

Slowing down the pace, Jimmy Gressett sets up a play in the Plainsmen's second loop win.

Plainsmen Break Even, Start Second Half Action

During the third tournament of the season, the 'Men employed steady ball playing to down El Paso Irvin, Lubbock Coronado and Austin McCallum for their Caprock tourney championship. Danny Sledge was named to the all-tourney team.

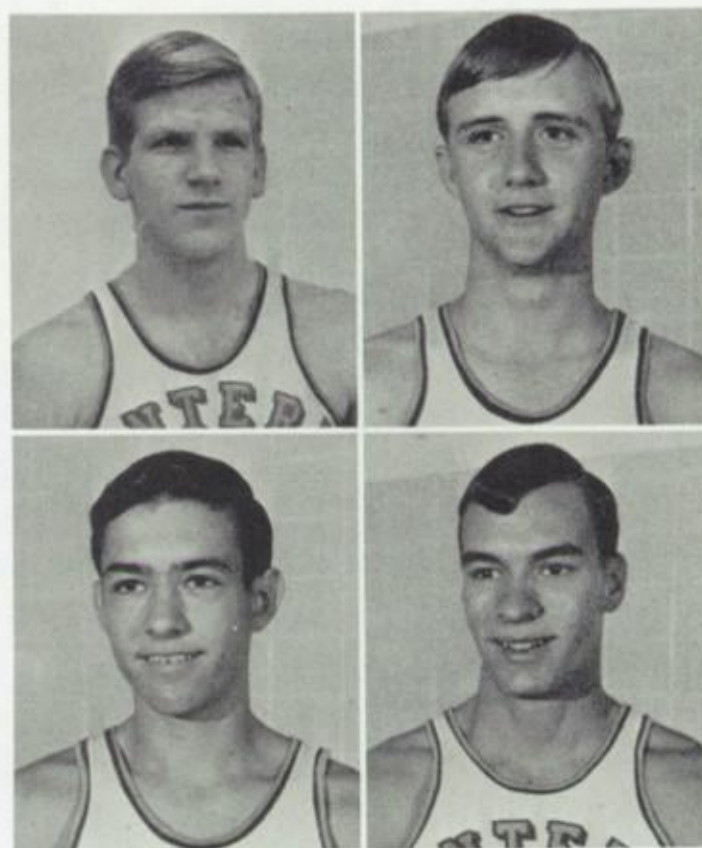

The Plainsmen had little trouble downing the Caprock Longhorns 72-54. Randy Andrews was high man for the night with 23 points.

Amarillo Sandies, first round champions, tripped the 'Men by scoring a field goal with one second remaining in the game for a 43-42 win.

Next, the undefeated Tascosa Rebels traveled to Lubbock to test the Plainsmen. Playing aggressive ball throughout the game, the 'Men put down Tascosa 47-46. Steve Hurt paced the 'Men as he hit for 18 points.

Winless crosstown rival Lubbock High wilted after a fourth quarter rally by the 'Men 55-44.

The second round of district play saw Coronado upset the Plainsmen for the second time 40-37. Fighting to stay in contention for the second round, the 'Men put down an inspired Borger combo 51-47. Steve Hurt and Randy Andrews led the 'Men with 25 and 12 points respectively.

MHS Drops One Game In Second-half Surge

With the win over Borger, the 'Men began a six-game winning streak. Pampa Harvesters were the second team to taste defeat at the hands of the Plainsmen. The 'Men pulled away in the fourth quarter to gain a 44-40 victory. Pacing Monterey was Randy Andrews with 13 points.

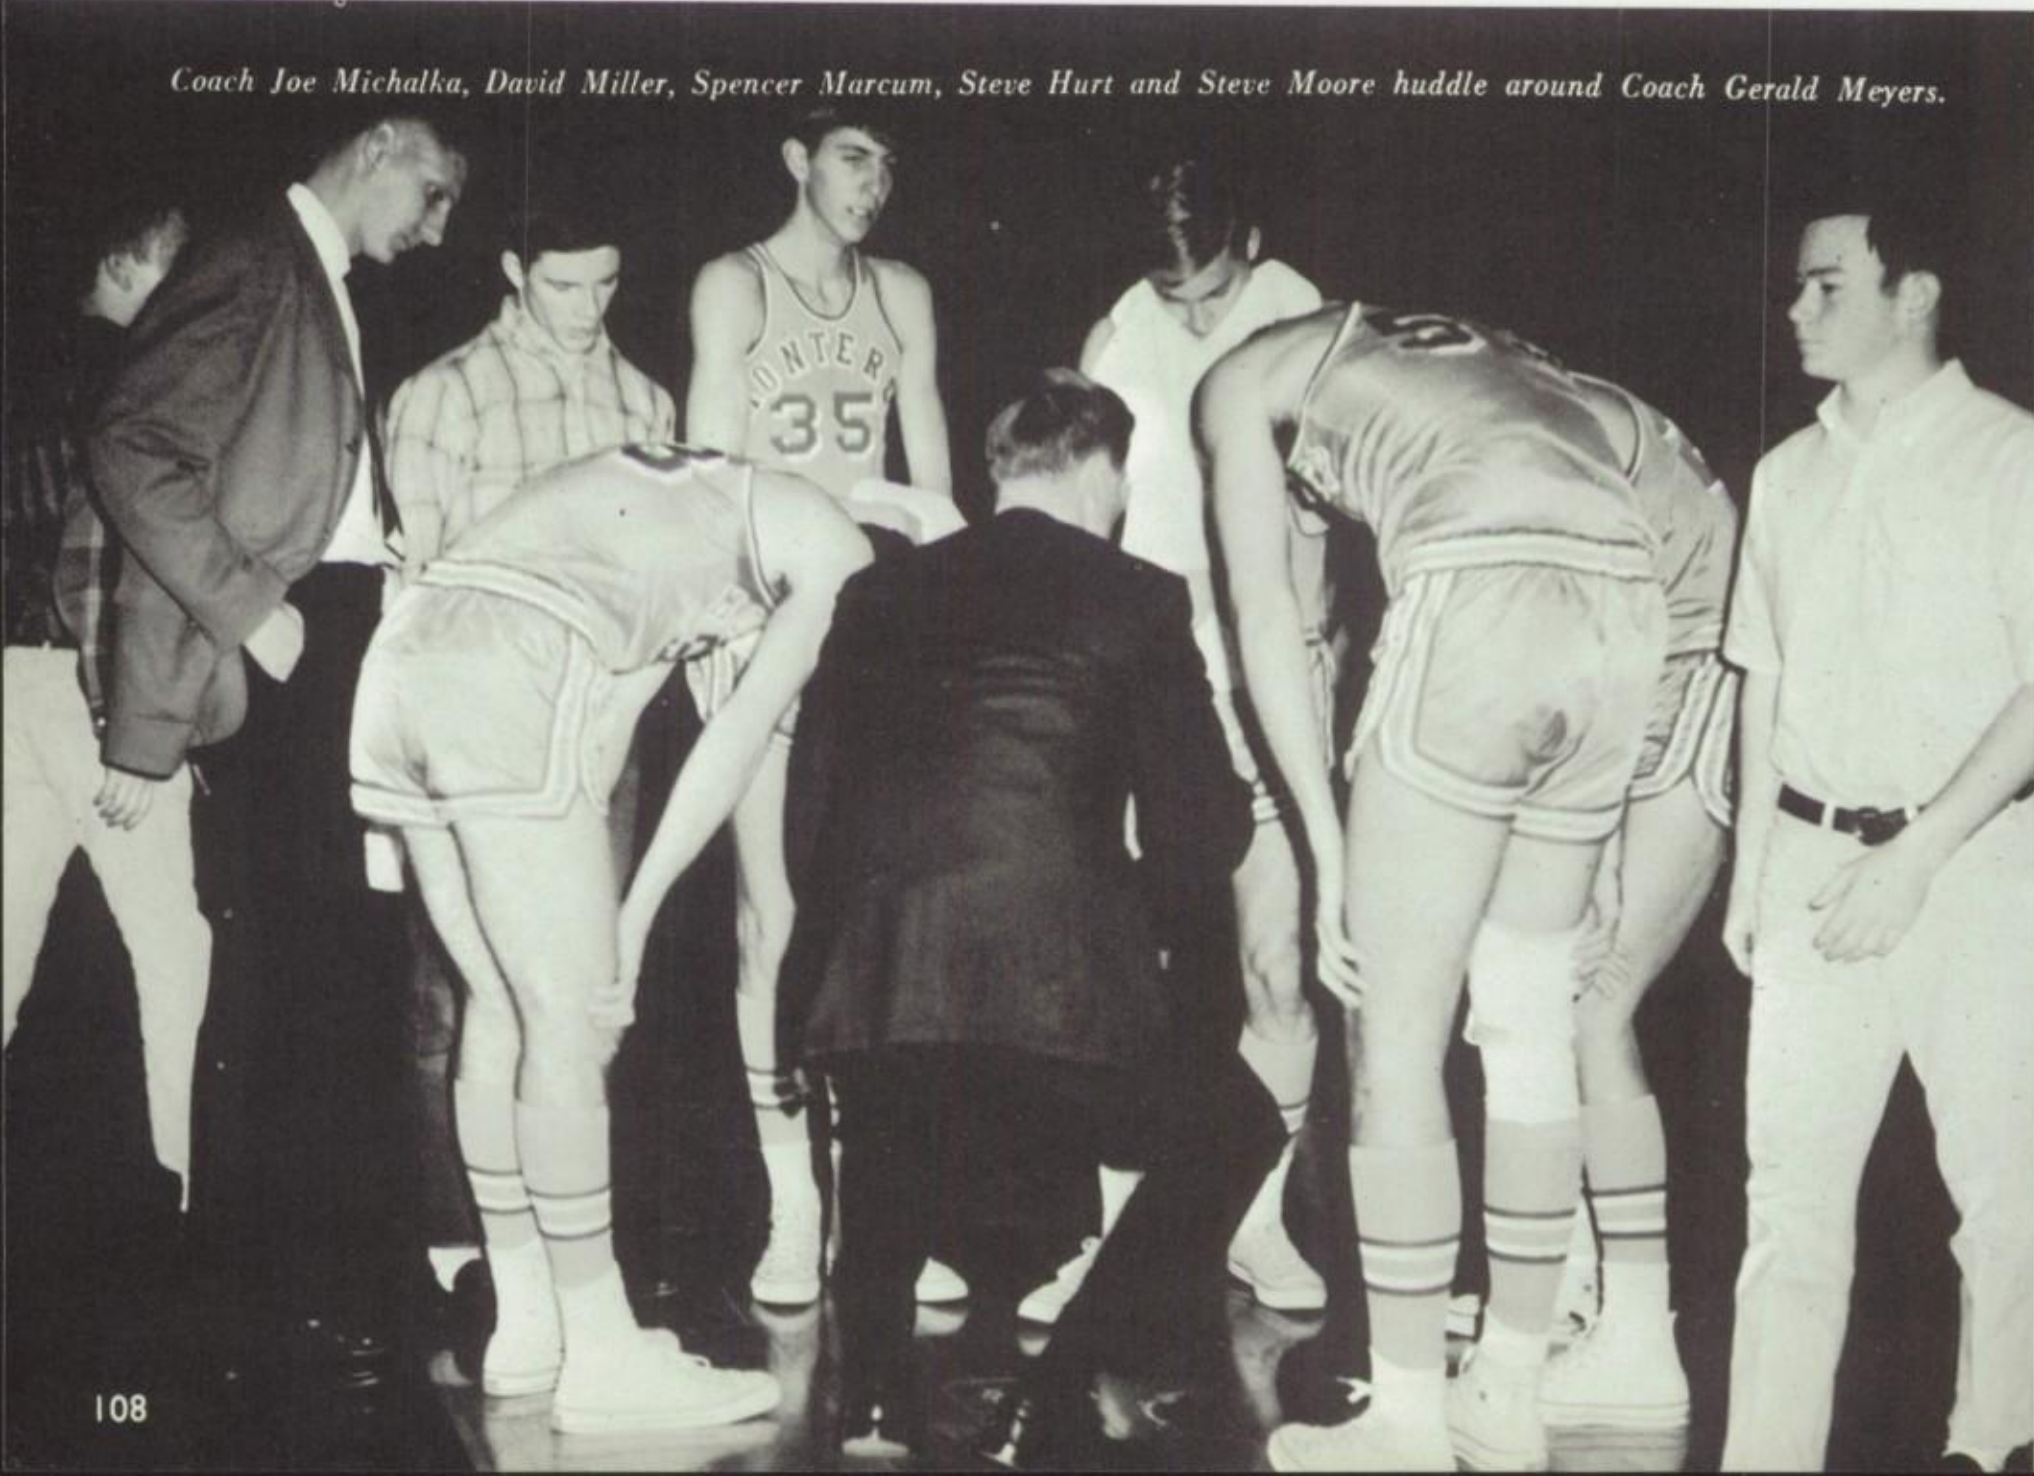

Next were the Plainview Bulldogs, and the 'Men had little trouble trouncing them 61-33. Traveling to Palo Duro, the 'Men avenged an earlier district loss by pounding the Dons 67-51. Steve Hurt's 28 points was high for the game.

First round champion Amarillo fell next. MHS gave the Sandies a sound beating, 55-40. Caprock's 'Horns were never in the game as Jimmy Gressett threw in 20 points to lead MHS to the 69-51 win.

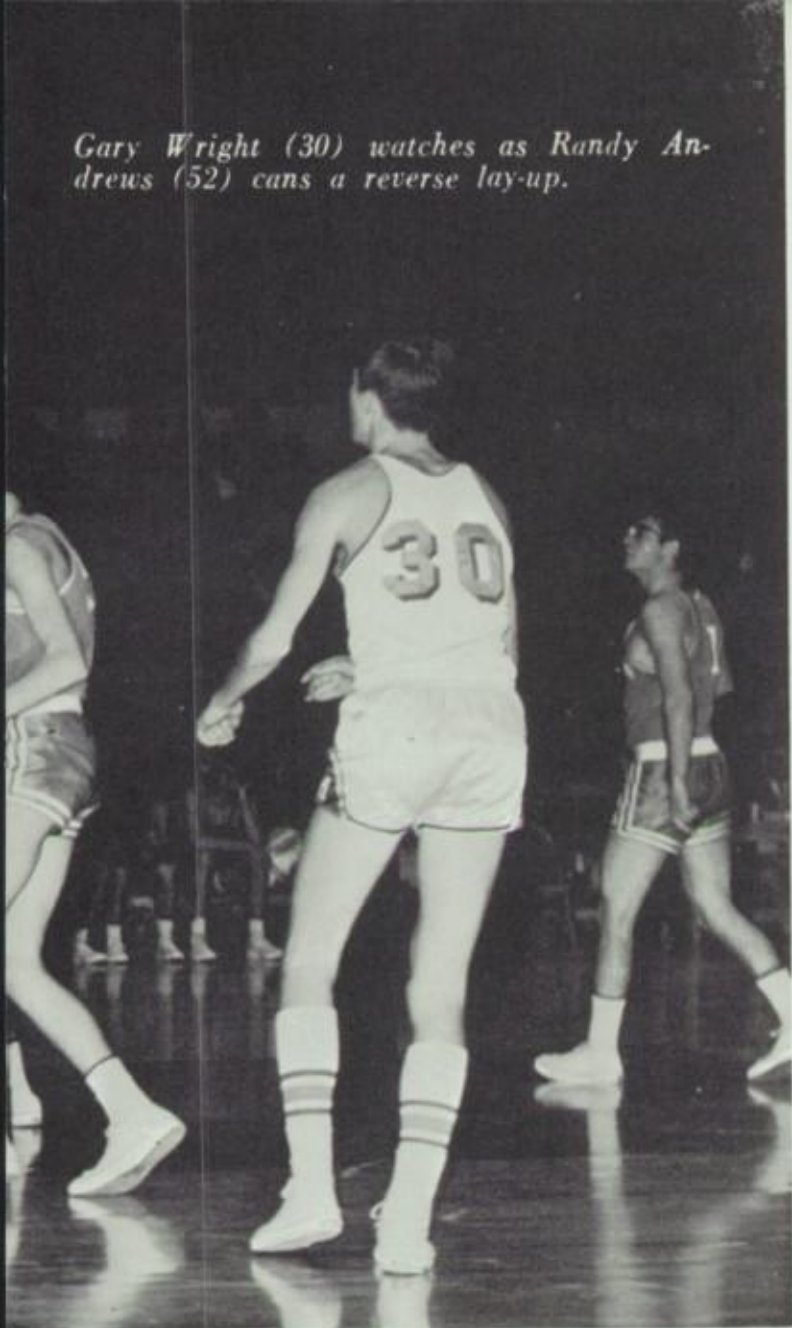

Plagued with fouls, the 'Men lost a hard-fought game with the Tascosa Rebels. A jump shot in the final seconds proved fatal. Steve Hurt and Gary Wright each contributed 13 points. The 'Men ended the season in fine style as they drubbed Lubbock High 65-43. Danny Sledge hit for 17 points.

B-Teamers Win 10 Games, Cop Snyder Consolation

Monterey Lancers chalked up a 10-13 season record. District competition saw the Lancers win eight and lose ten.

The underclassmen won the consolation trophy at the Snyder B-Team tournament. In the consolation game, the Lancers smashed Seminole 58-44. Barry Lee and Phil Featherston each hit for 18 points.

Coach Joe Michalka had many choices for a starting five as several players started during the season. Seeing much action were Barry Lee, Chuck Costanzo, Neil Young, Ralph Cercy, Featherston and Mike Thompson.

Each week the Lancers seemed to become a stronger team as they won six of their last eight games. Junior Barry Lee and sophomores Neil Young and Phil Featherston provided most of the scoring punch throughout the year. The Lancers defeated the Lubbock High B-Team in the last game of the season by a score of 34-32. Lee, Young and Featherston each hit for eight points. Coach Michalka commented that the Lancers displayed good spirit and hustle all season.

Four Lettermen Lead Plainsmen in 1967

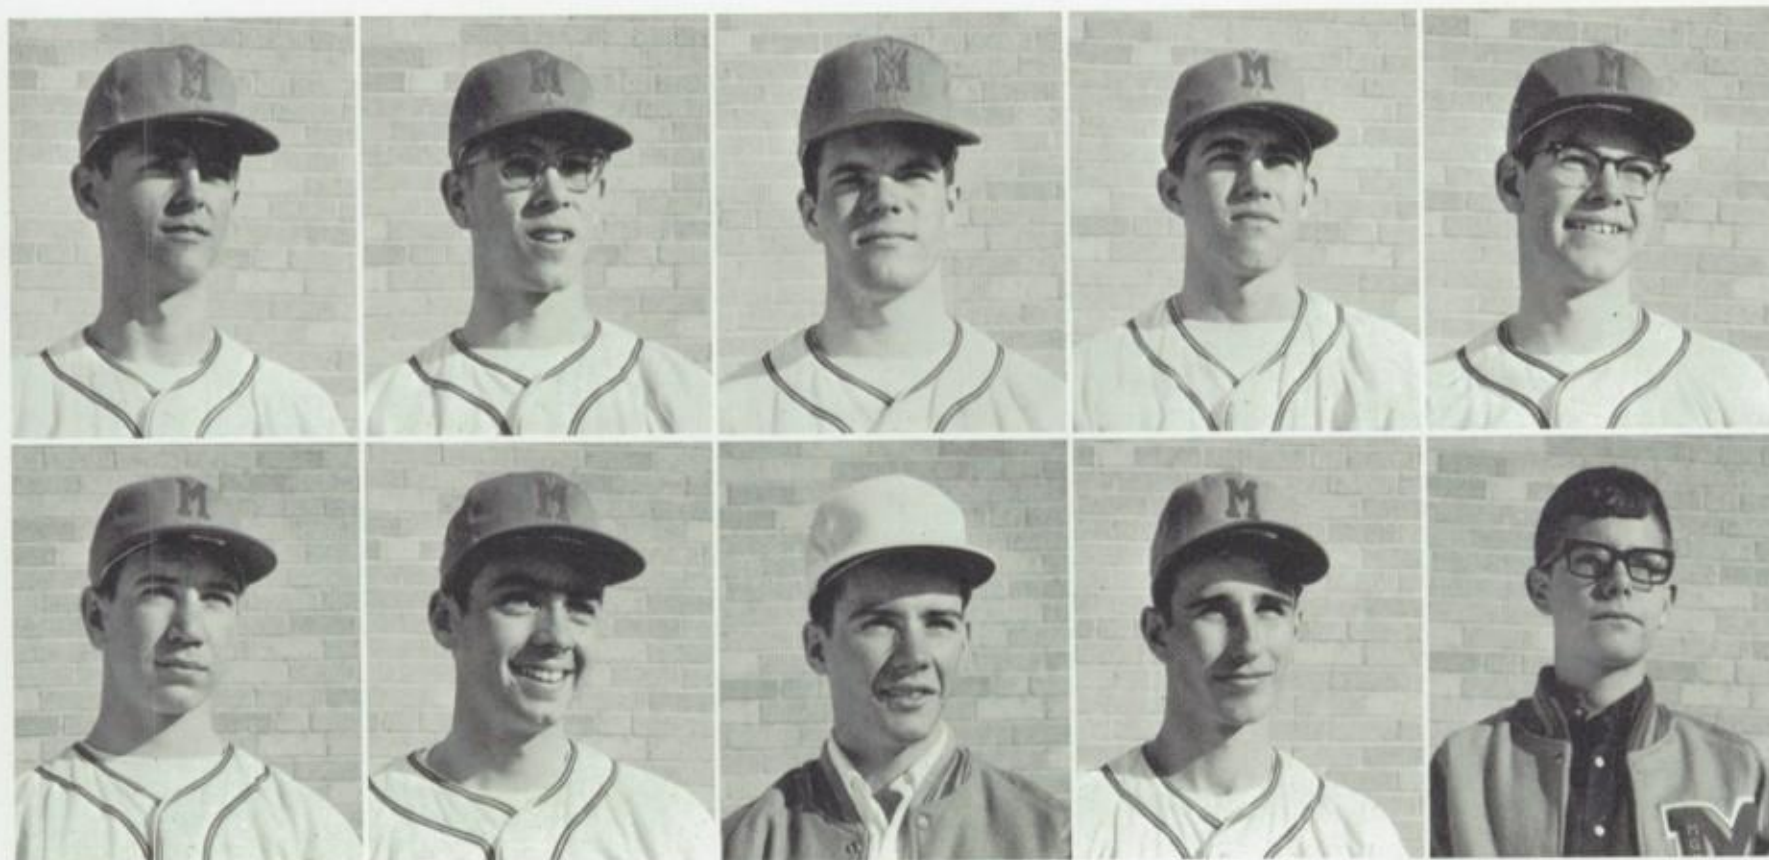

The 1967 season gave Coach Bobby Moegle the opportunity to win his seventh district championship in eight years. Moegle pinned his hopes on the team's defensive game and on pitching. Steve Hurt, a returning letterman, had an eight-one pitching record in the 1966 campaign. Strong support in this department came from Jimmy Godley who returned with a three-zero ledger.

Four returning lettermen, Bart Bratcher, Jimmy O'Jibway, Hurt, and Godley form the basis for the team's success. Rodney Palmer, Jimmy Stiles, Mike Crutcher, and Johnny Owens also figure prominently in Moegle's plans.

Plainsman Tennis Squad Threatens Record

Challenged by records set by Monterey's championship teams, new tennis coach Mr. Richard Umstot found much talent and desire in the Monterey tennis team. Led by captains Steve Peterman and Jessica

Jones, the burden of completing a successful season was shouldered by two year letterman Wayne Johnson and one year lettermen Joe Joplin, Pat Kelly, Steve and Jessica. Johnson and Joplin teamed to lead the squad in doubles competition.

MHS Cindermen Prepare For Tough Competition

Success of the '67 Plainsman track team falls mainly into the hands of Coach Pat Blessing, in his rookie year as head track coach. The sprint relay team, composed entirely of underclassmen, rests its hopes on juniors Melvin Billups and Ronnie Sumners. The district's fourth best hurdler returns to lead the squad in this category, as Ronnie Tannery's early season times bettered his '66 marks.

Top pole vaulter Tebby Thames, winner of the 1966 City Meet, adds his potential to the field events. Randy Franks and Butch Bowen, top shot putters, compete for high honors in their category. Promise for the discus competition comes from senior Roger Bell.

Several MHS distance runners threaten the best that the district has to offer. Mike Dea, Bruce Gilliam, and Donnie Anderson form the nucleus for hopes in the distance events. Coach Blessing also expects Randy Surratt, Larry Stephenson, Larry Winegart, Teddy Wiley, David Hillburn and Ronnie Wheeler to help carry Monterey to its best track season in the school's history.

Linksters Rate High In Pre-season Polls

Picked by pre-season polls to be top contenders for the district title this year, Monterey linksters faced a tough season. Coach Charles Brewer and his team began working toward the district goal early in September. The A team, consisting of five players chosen in December in a qualifying tournament, was made up of Steve Beasley, Lee Mosley, Larry Harrod, Alan White and Mark Wright. In late February competition got underway with linksters competing in five district matches.

The overwhelming need during the teen years is the need for someone. It begins early in adolescence and increases in intensity until the right one is found. The search is carried on in the classroom . . . in the halls . . . on the parking lot . . . in virtually every nook and cranny of the school. During these years people are of paramount importance . . . One never knows just which one will be that special one. Could it be . . . perhaps . . . this one? School Board, P-TA Advise, Co-ordinate Components in an effort to create a bond of understanding between parents and faculty, the School Board and P-TA act as advisors and co-ordinators of the Lubbock Public Schools. Superintendent Nat Williams and Assistant Superintendent Dr. Ishmael Hill head the list of executives whose job it is to efficiently operate the school system.

"Improved relations between parents and teachers is the prime objective of the P-TA," states Mrs. L. D. Whitely, president.

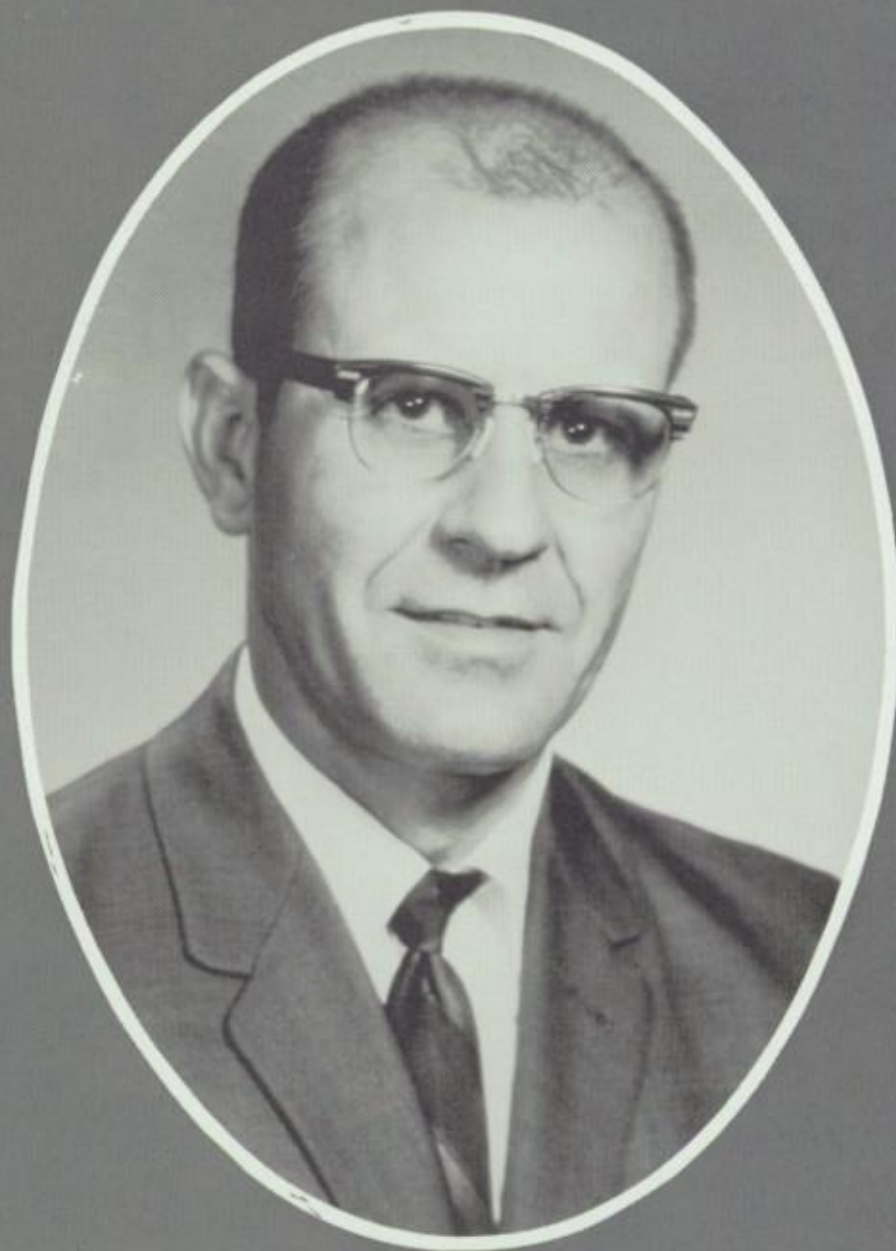

Leading a large school system requires patience, hard work and foresight. Mr. Nat Williams, superintendent, and Dr. Ishmael Hill, assistant superintendent, fill the bill as they study plans for a new high school.

principal

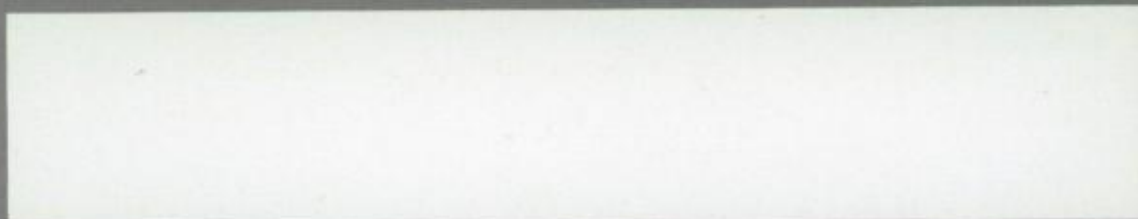

A busy man in a busy school, Mr. B. J. Randles takes a moment to encourage Mrs. Jo Ann Corbet during passing period.

Quality High School Reflects Personal Traits of Principal

In assessing the worth of a man, one must consider not only his leadership and executive abilities, but his social rapport as well. On both counts, Mr. B. J. Randles, principal, is successful. Under his leadership, Monterey continually ranks with other top schools as an academic leader. His supervision helps make the physical plant comfortable and more than adequate. More than all this, however, his concern for each faculty member and each student makes Monterey much more than an educational factory. Rather, it is a place where young people develop into useful citizens and emerge to take their place in tomorrow's world.

Principals Act as Right-Hand Men

In a school of some 2,000 students and teachers, the responsibilities of keeping the curriculum running on schedule rest upon the shoulders of its principals. Sharing the load of administrative duties, Monterey's three assistant principals, Mr. Henry Zorns, Mr. Waylon Carroll and Mr. C. W. Edwards, play the part of right-hand men to Mr. B. J. Randles and the entire student body.

Arranging school assemblies, bus trips and school parties, Mr. C. W. Edwards discusses time, date and program with a group under contract. Approval of all student council plans and activities also comes under the jurisdiction of Mr. Edwards.

In an effort to stay well-informed on school activities Mr. Waylon Carroll looks over an issue of the Monterey Mirror.

Dealing with the problems of today's teenagers proves a gigantic challenge to Monterey counselors. Scheduling achievement tests, arranging credits for graduation and listening to personal problems are among the duties of the advisors. Also serving on the staff is the school nurse, Mrs. June Ducker. Her responsibilities range from keeping each student's health record to giving eye examinations. Working as a team, the counselors provide an "island of refuge" for the students of Monterey.

Task of Selection Faces Librarian

As head of the library, Mr. John Mitchell has as his greatest responsibility the selecting and buying of books for the coming year. For each student enrolled, the library receives two dollars toward the purchase of books. The library presently contains 12,884 books and inventory is taken once a year. This year the library has broken all preceding records in the selling of paperback novels.

Pub, 'Hub of Activity'; Produces Top Publications

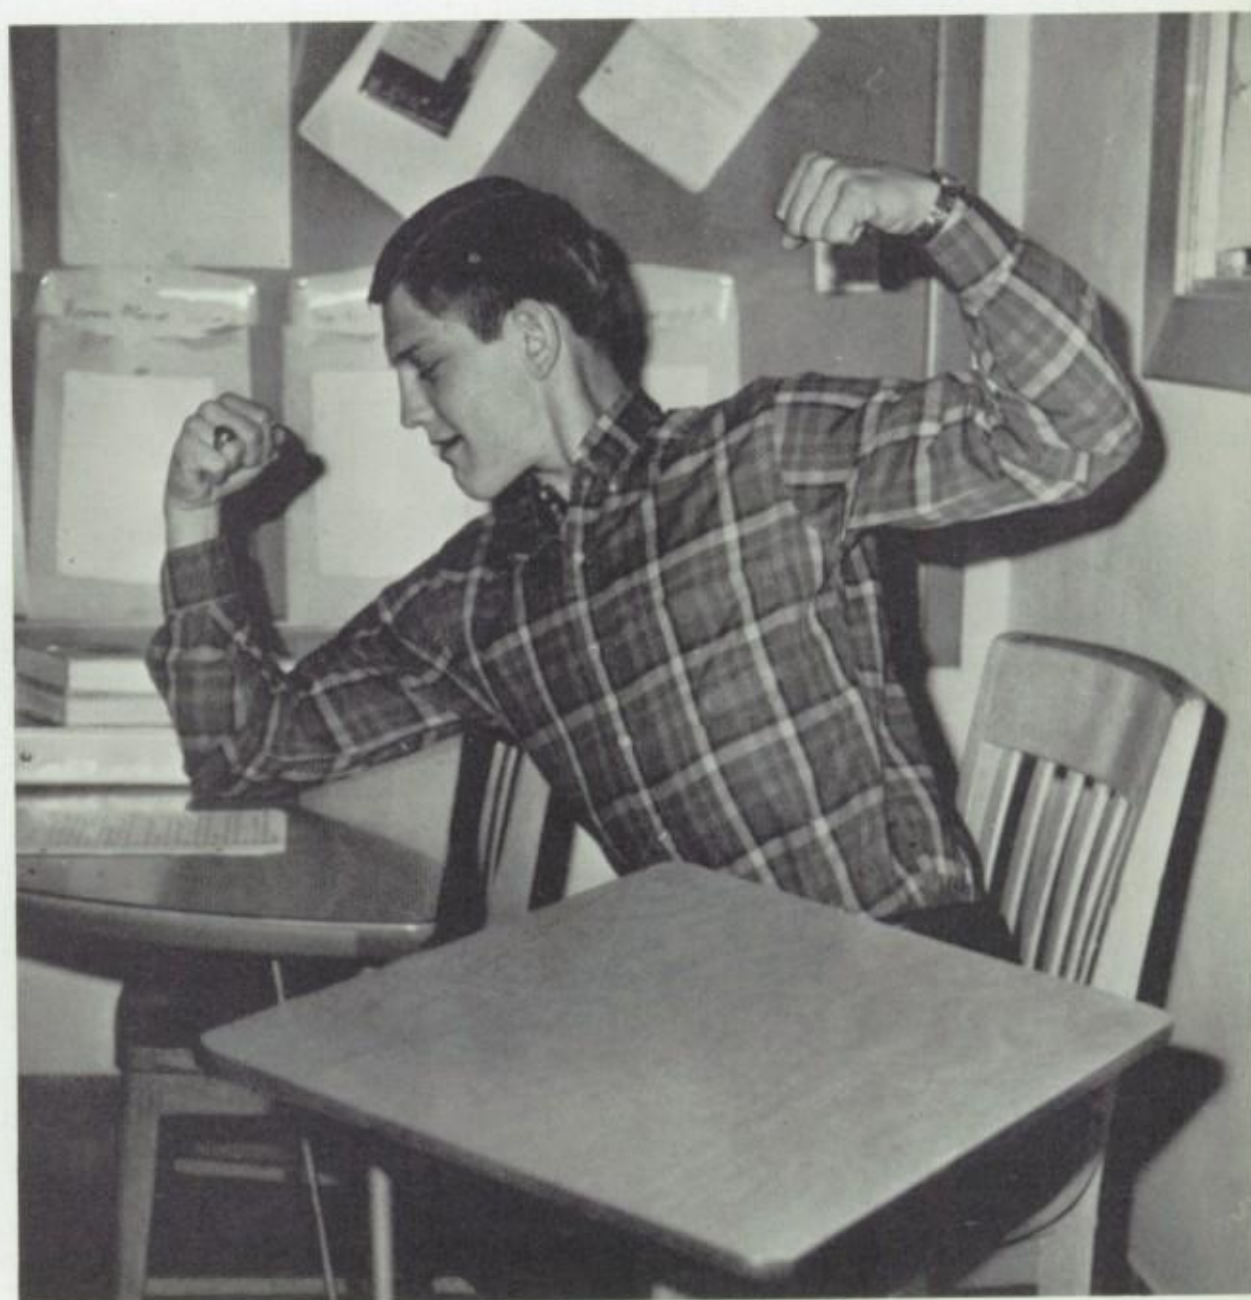

Pub office was a hub of commotion during the 1966-67 school year. Editors and staff members worked long hours in and out of school to credit Monterey with the top-rating Monterey Mirror and Chaparral. Reporters must have a "nose for news" to seek facts and present them in an interesting way to their readers. Yearbook students pool ideas to create a unique annual. Journalism equips newsmen with the necessary tools to further their career in publications and assume staff responsibilities.

History Pages Unfold Past, Serve As Guide For Future

Man draws knowledge from the past and perhaps his best source for this information is the history book. Through the study of the Constitution, court system, political parties, and other facets of the American way of life, students find the answers to the "right and wrong" of the democratic system. Language Lab Sounds Off As Students Go Native

Sights as well as sounds are quite foreign in the language lab, for awkward headgear is essential to the learning and teaching of a foreign language. Sounds emitted from the earphones originate from a tape, which is recorded in a specified foreign tongue. Through its use, the student learns the correct pronunciation of those mysterious and often tongue-twisting words. Various taped drills also provide the student with grammatical knowledge and promote wider understanding.

Novels Spice Up English Curriculum

Placing a bigger emphasis on literature and composition, the Monterey English department opened the school year with new textbooks. An estimated 1500 new novels have been ordered by teachers. Students read a variety of authors, analyze stories and probe for meaning and symbolism. Extensive studies are begun in the fields of grammar, poetry and essays. The acquired knowledge provides unlimited opportunities in both school and outside activities.

Why + How = A + in Math

Challenging students with the “why” of mathematics rather than just the “how”, modern math teachers carefully explain theories and de-emphasize mechanics. Mechanical memorizing of techniques is a thing of the past. Reasoning is stressed to a great degree and is often regarded more closely than final answers. With this new approach, Monterey’s budding mathematicians learn to think for themselves and cultivate a desire for learning.

Intent upon explaining each problem fully, Mrs. Sue Rowland carefully points out the use of certain geometric properties.

In a confused train of thought involving quantities, equalities and equations Gemma Kuhnly, junior, tries desperately to finish her algebra homework.

Persuading a student to apply knowledge already gained can be a trying experience, testifies Mrs. Allen Whitely as she explains to a class of juniors.

Mrs. Ava Maurer, applied design and art instructor, discusses proportion and balance with Sharon Lindsey who plans a bulletin board of class projects.

Using colored pencils to pre-plan her sculpture, art student Gwen Ray designs her project on paper. Some art classes created their own Mardi Gras Costumes.

Sound of Music Echoes in Halls; Harmony of Group Stressed

Combining a variety of all-state, regional and amateur musical talents, the music division of Monterey creates a sound that merits honors in competition year after year. Working to blend the individual talents of many people into a harmonious group, the choirs, bands and orchestra spend many extra-curricular hours perfecting their concert pieces. Courses available to students are band, orchestra, Acapella choirs, boys' and girls' glee, and various music history classes.

When strains of the Monterey school song are faintly heard in halls and classrooms, chances are it's Mr. Rex Shelton drilling the Jr.-Sr. Band for performances at games, pep rallies and competition.

Expressive hands play a major role in conducting any orchestra as they remind musicians of changes in tempo, volume and individual solos. Students find Mr. Zablony's "talking hands" employ a large repertoire as he directs the MHS orchestra.

Putting "body and soul" into his music, Mr. James Ramsey guides the boys' glee through a new piece of music.

Speakers, Actors Aim for Fame

An appetite for dramatics, a desire for self-improvement—these mirror the characteristics of an MHS drama or speech student. Many hours of hard work are spent both in and out of class by aspiring actors and actresses. Lines must be memorized, expression and emotion caught not to mention countless other duties executed behind the curtain to bring to the Plainsmen a victory on stage. Speech students add to the Monterey image as a fine academic school by preparing speeches and debates.

"All women become like their mothers. That is their tragedy," declares Algernon Moncrieff who was portrayed by Davy Coker in "The Importance of Being Earnest."

Rehearsing in the spotlight, Tam Kerr strives to vividly portray her character.

A stern look is sometimes better than a thousand words. Mr. John Franklin often uses facial rather than verbal expression in lecturing his speech classes. Here he explains the need for correct enunciation.

According to Dr. Spock, babies should be held while taking the bottle. Ronny Hubbard does his best to follow this advice with his piglet.

MHS Aggies Win In Big Contest

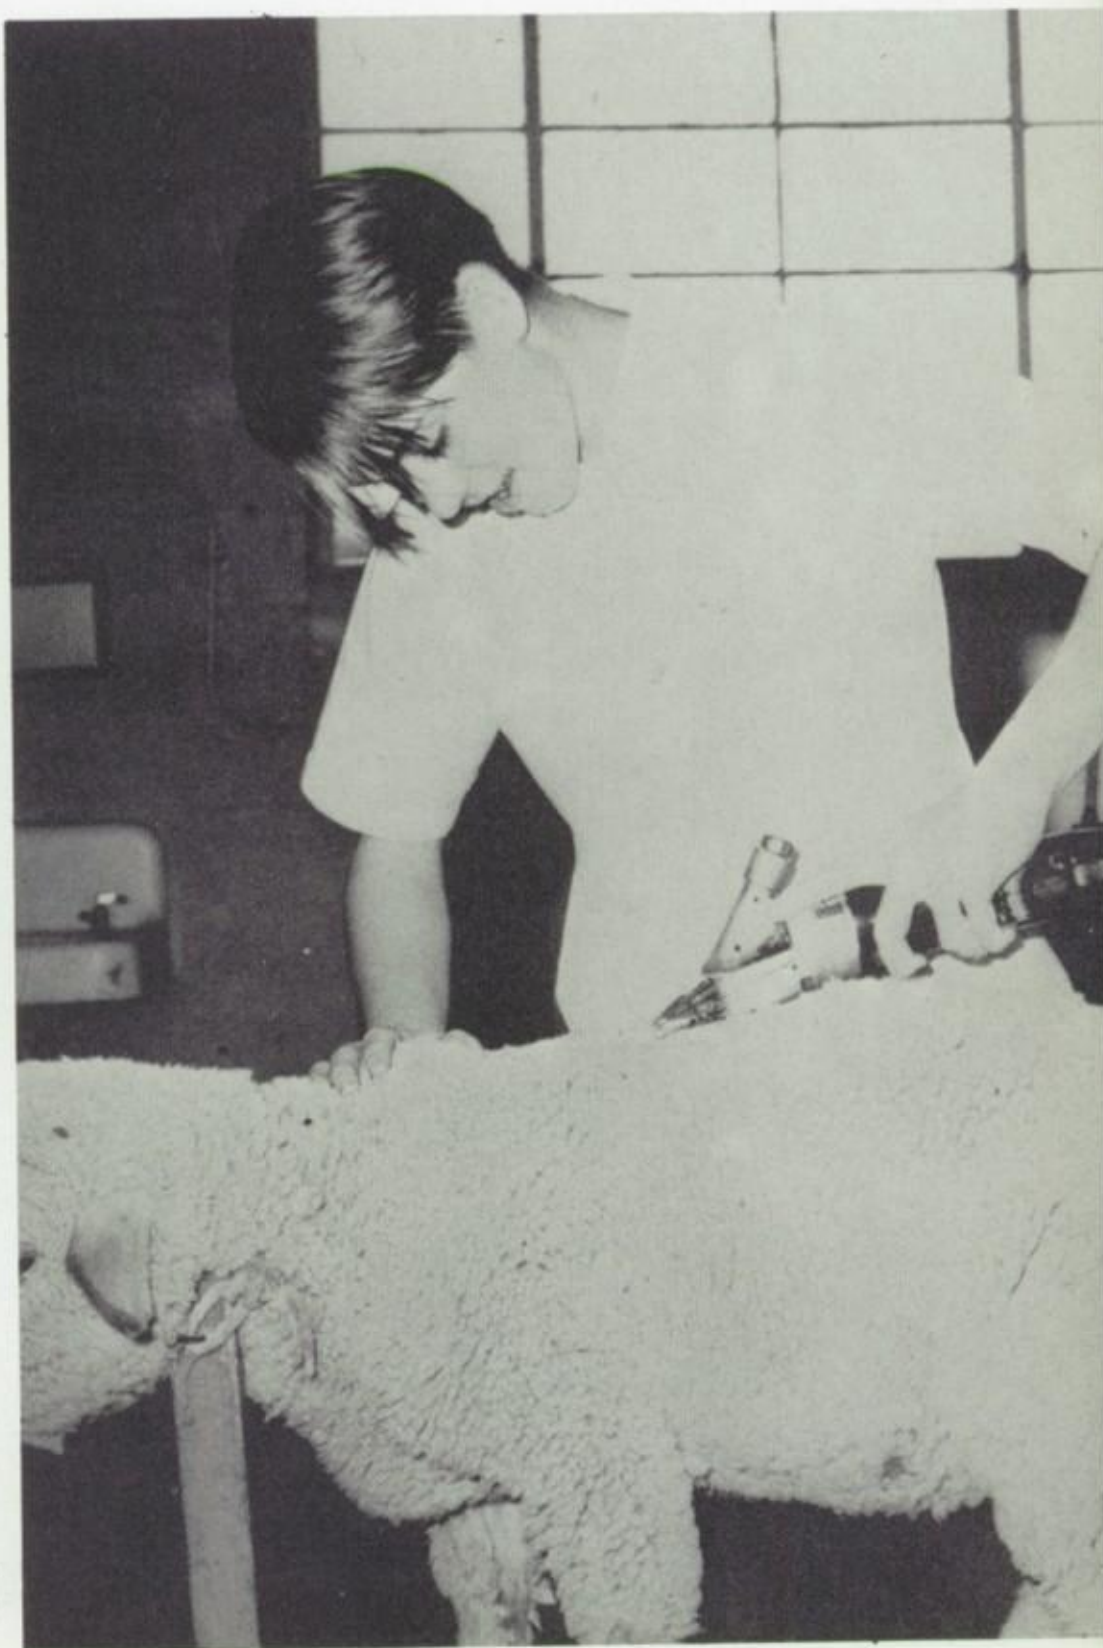

A pair of cowboy boots, an FFA jacket or maybe a cowboy hat is enough to brand any agriculture student as typical. But it takes more than a cowboy hat to enable a boy to cope with the responsibility he takes on as he attempts to manage the MHS ag farm. MHS aggies participate in national and area contests, showing livestock or judging farm products. This year the dairy products judging team from Monterey placed seventh in national competition.

Taking care of just one of many emergencies, Richard Frazier doctors his calf's eye, damaged by an encounter with a barbed-wire fence.

Although it's hard to tell who needs the haircut worse, Steve Lindley seems to think it's the sheep's turn first. The profits from the wool will be marketed as part of the student's practical education.

industrial arts

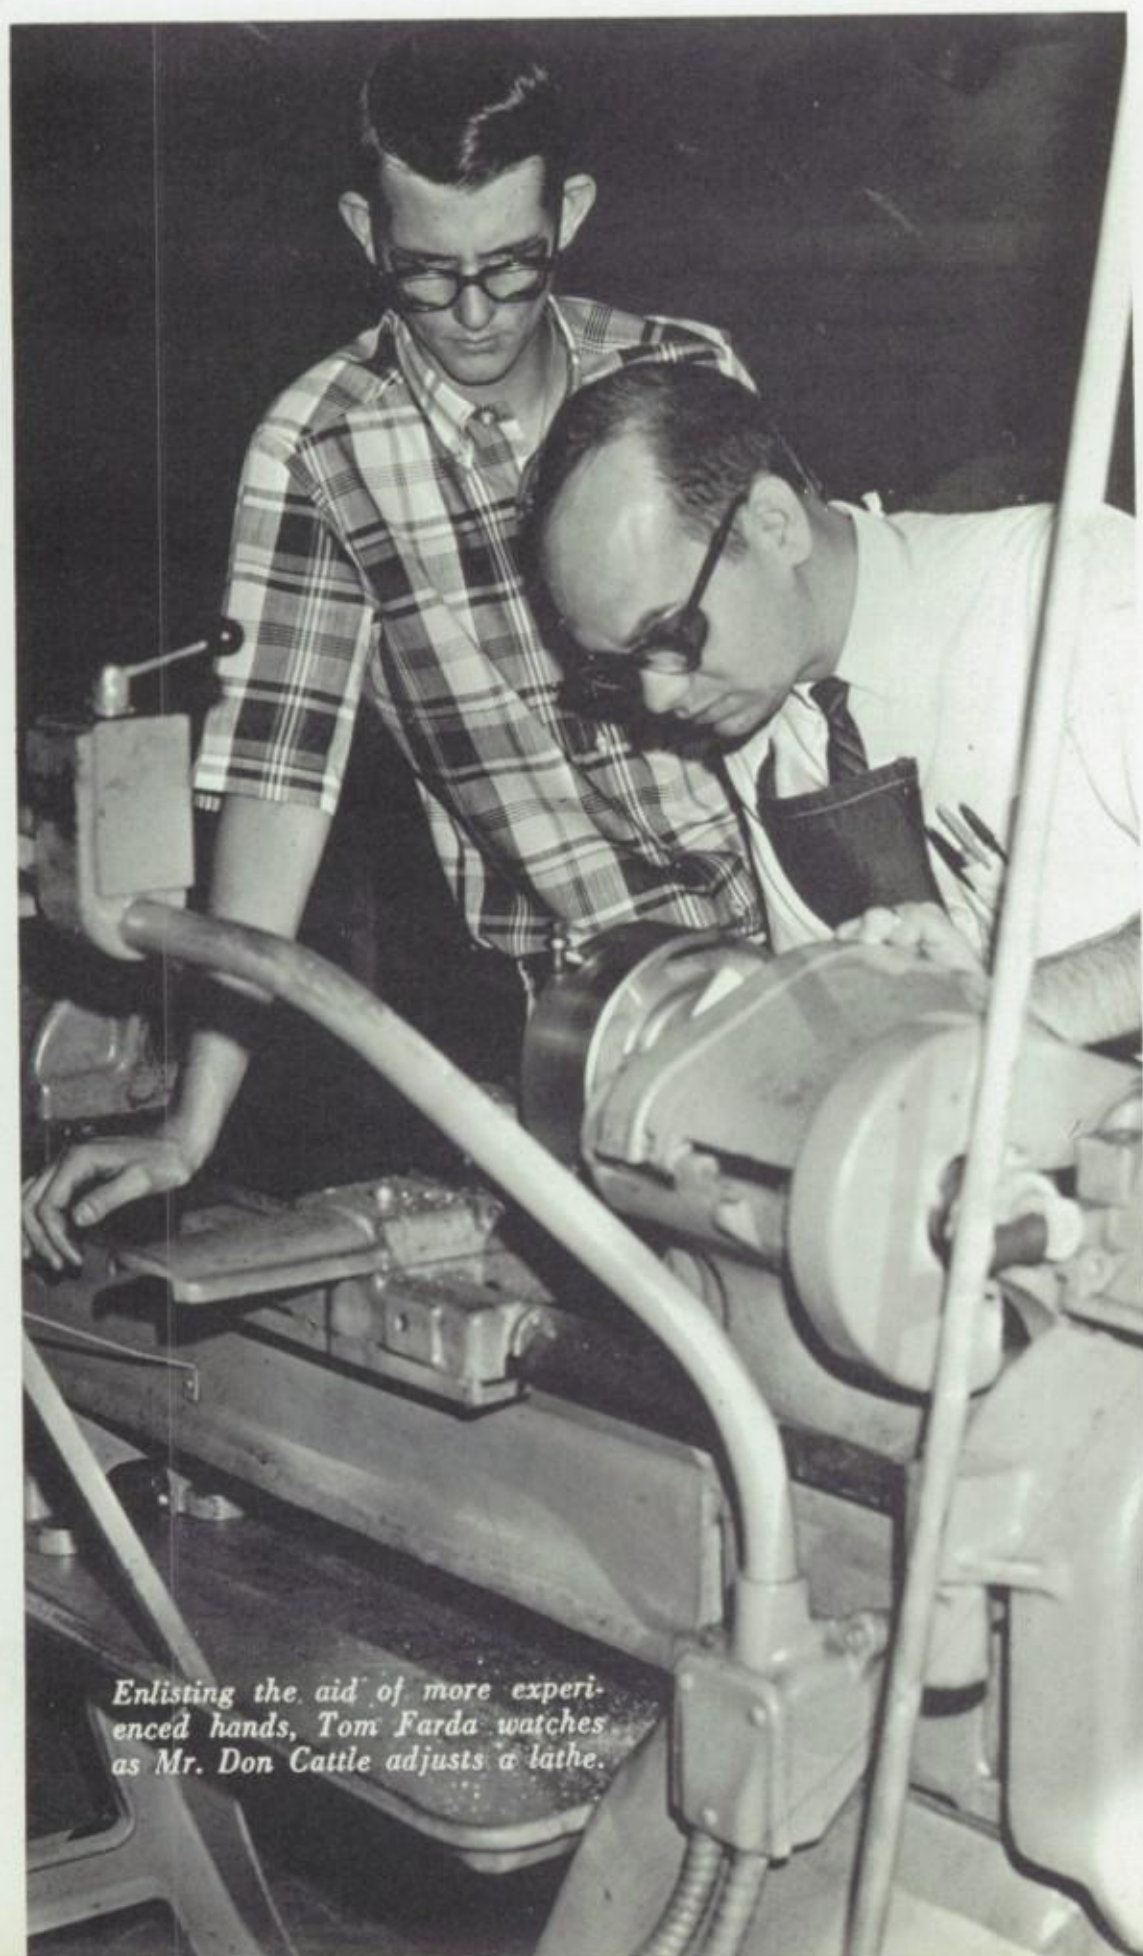

Using basic tools (hammers and anvil) and elementary methods, Donnie Dyers and Harry Bullock forge a chisel for one of their first metal projects.

Sparks fly as Bob Foreman grinds a smooth finish on his chisel. All shop students wear protective glasses to shield their eyes from injury. Boys are required to complete a major project within the year and the best are displayed.

Careful Planning, Hard Work Build Mental, Manual Skills

Whether it's designing a floor plan or building a wooden cabinet, industrial arts students are putting skills into practical use. Beginning with basic tools and projects, boys learn to handle shop equipment. Students wishing to take industrial arts may choose between various drafting courses or metal shop or wood shop. Progressing to more difficult projects, many students wish to show their work in area fairs. The industrial arts entries brought home twelve ribbons this year, proving their ability.

P. E. Provides Body Tune-up in Push-button Age

In an age of automation, Plainsmen P. E. instructors stress the student's positive attitude toward physical fitness. Four new courses offered to Girls P. E. classes to develop physical skills are speedball, bowling, gymnastics and archery. Boys classes begin the year with muscle-building activities such as weight-lifting and touch football. In the Fall and Spring semesters, all classes undergo physical fitness tests to determine progress throughout the year.

Classes Master Business Skills

The clatter of busy typewriters and office machines echoing in classrooms and halls indicates that commercial class students are attempting to master the mechanical skills of the business world. The skills learned in these classes also provide a good background for schoolwork and a foundation for future schooling. Students may enroll in classes in stenography, shorthand, typing, bookkeeping, general business and business arithmetic.

Custodians, Cooks Maintain M H S Campus, Cafeteria

Just as Monterey students and faculty aim to keep their school on the top academically and athletically, custodians and cafeteria help try to keep Monterey personnel more than satisfied with the school's appearance and lunch menus. Cafeteria help and school custodians find that keeping the halls and grounds clean and 2,175 people well-fed can be almost impossible.

After the rush of the everyday three lunch periods, long hours of cleaning are spent to get the cafeteria ready for another day.

Officers Prepare Middlemen for Year of Action

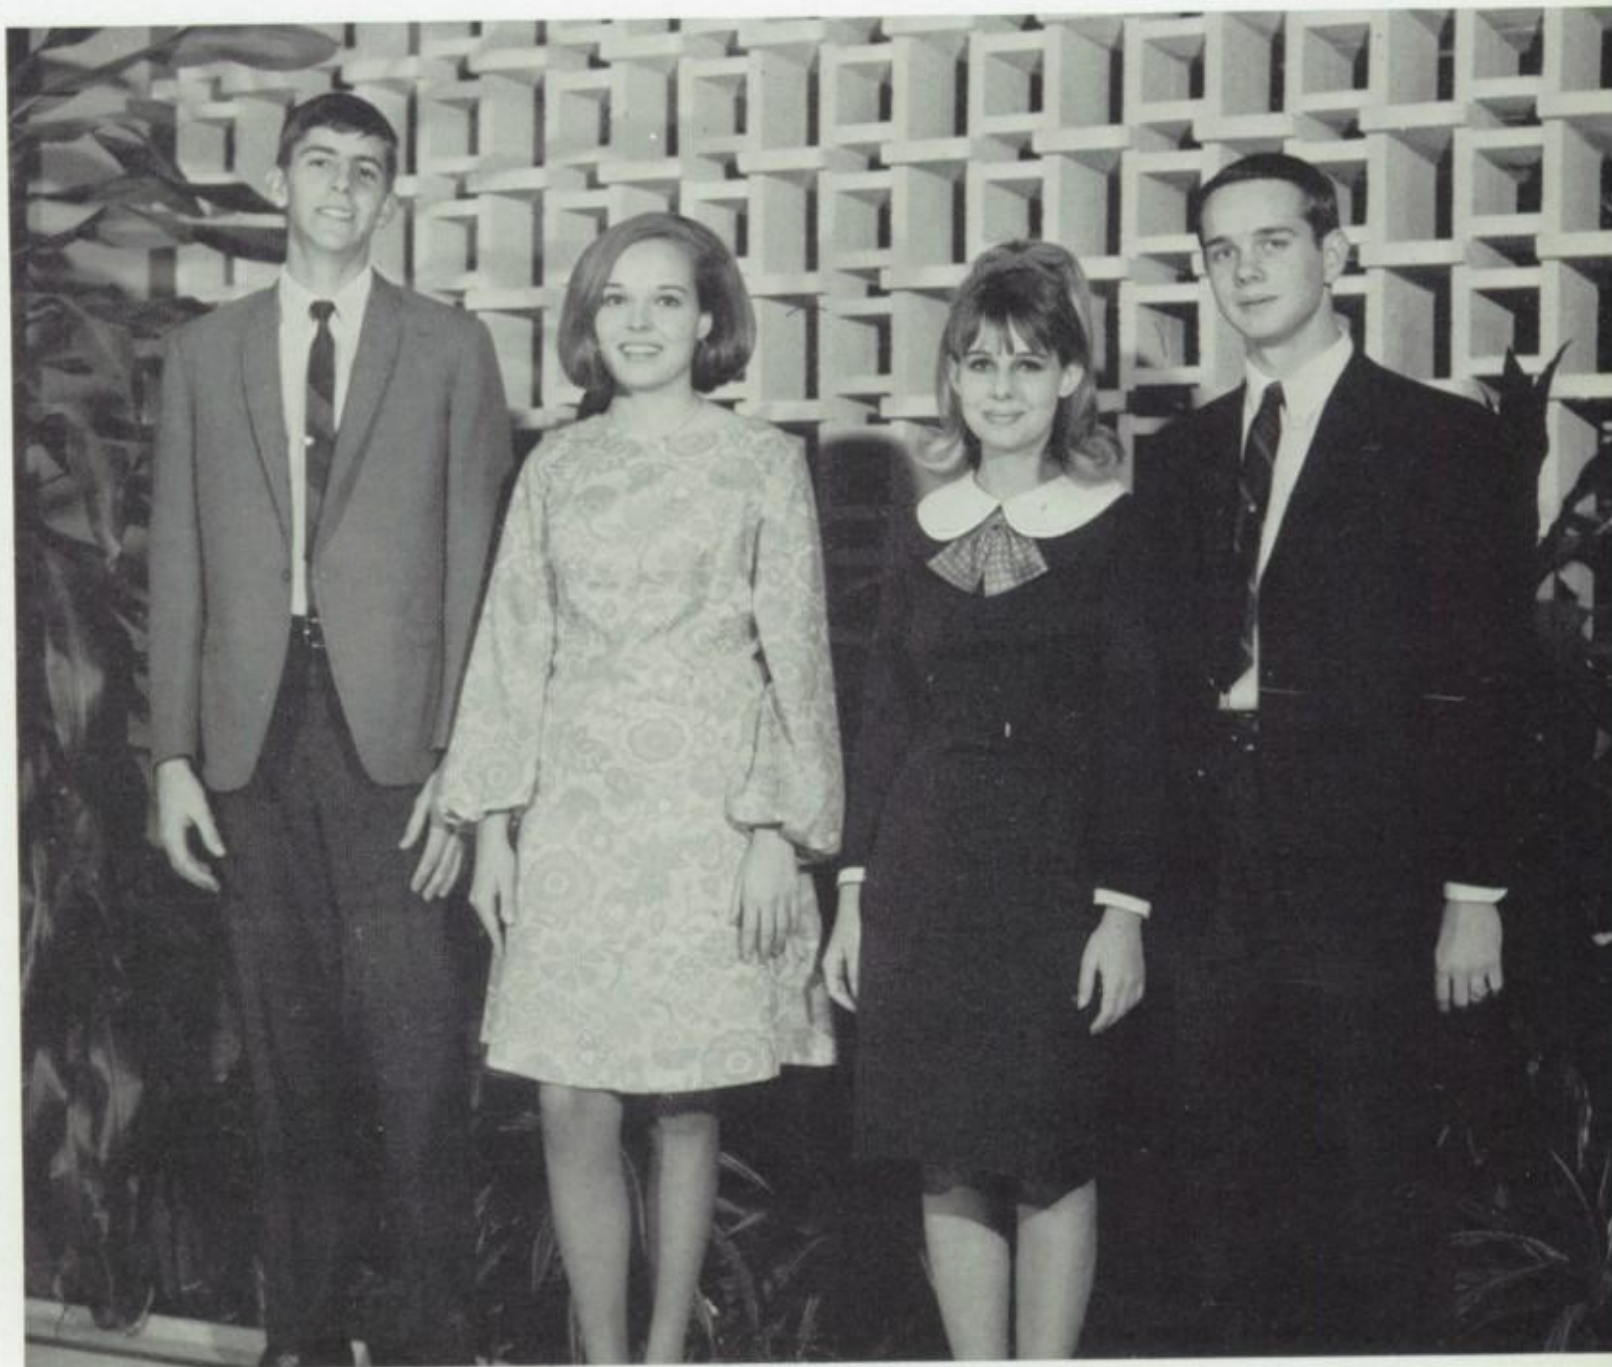

Junior class activities prove successful with the help of vice-presidents Gerald Brummett, Sally Hewitt, Barbara Hawkins and Gary Wright. These students participate in various activities such as the selling of candy for the Junior-Senior Prom, decorating for Cowtown and Mardi Gras. Once a week members report council decisions to their respective homerooms.

Operating at a brisk pace, Claude Freeman, Lynn Wood, Trish Pinson and Steve Davis work hard on all-class functions. These junior vice-presidents not only act as supervisors of activities, but to promote a better relationship between Monterey and the outside world. Students sold bows and TB bangles during the Christmas holidays to raise money for needy causes.

Student Council members Spencer Marcum, Jan Tillery and Jimmy Gressett kept to the grindstone for a productive year. Vice-presidents initiate all class-functions and act as supervisors to students working on these projects. With their ability as leaders, these people encourage all juniors to take part in many of the activities they sponsor.

Quick energy is a must for hard-working English teachers. Mrs. Jo Ann Corbet catches her's at the local candy machine between periods.

Answering an infinite number of questions concerning the how's and why's of Sophomore English gives Mrs. Jo Ann Corbet the chance to know individuals in her classes. Through serving as Junior class sponsor, she answers the how's and why's of student government and gets to know even more Plainsmen.

Vice-Presidents Lead New Men Through Year

Student Council members Les Miller, Glenna Brown and David Armistead participate in such activities as decorating for football games, yielding a fantastic Sophomore party and ushering at the Junior-Senior Prom. These vice-presidents and others want their class to be remembered for the spectacular things it did.

Sophomore vice presidents are usually remembered as having done nothing to add to Monterey in any way except population. This year's vice-presidents want to prove to themselves and others that they were an exceptional class and did much to improve the extra-curriculars at their school. Libby Fowler, Mark Hughes, Mickie Evans, Neil Young and Judy Schmidt are just five who are improving their class.

Political promises of tax cuts and lower living costs failed to materialize in 1966-67. Rather, the nation was catapulted into a period of inflation. Young people were beset by the need for more money as school expenses increased. Many sought part time employment while others carefully budgeted already-strained allowances. In spite of it all, however, teens still ranked high as consumers in a prosperous city.

Celebrating our 10th Anniversary

How do you rate a college?

..... If you rate by prestige, you may not look at us the second time. We are only 10 years old and it takes longer than that to build genuine prestige. After all, Harvard is 330 years old. But, if you rate a college by dedicated leadership, qualified and concerned faculty, broad curriculum, excellent buildings, outstanding students, stimulating school life and successful ex-students, look us over. If you are still looking for prestige, come back to see us in 320 years.

Kent,

We've had some pretty fun times this year, both at school and outside school. I've really enjoyed knowing you and I think you're a lot of fun. I hope you have a blast this summer and the next two years. Maybe next year we can be in a few classes together again, and have more fun together. Good luck and God bless ya.

Lind

Kent,

This year has really been groovy and you've helped make it. I really have enjoyed our occasional cokes and hot-rodding in the v.w. I'll never forget the chase and also brightening the ~~out~~? out of that kid. Hope to be seeing you near in the future,
yours in hate for Mrs. "Brin",

Kent,
 It has been a blast this year in geometry, listening to all of your comments about everything. You are one of the most sincere persons I've ever known and I hope you never change. God bless you always. Micken

Our Plainsman Heritage . . .

. . . As one leaves Monterey and goes on to muddle through a bit more of life's confusion, he carries with him . . . and will forever . . . this Plainsman Heritage. It is constant in the life of every Plainsman who meets and is changed by Monterey High School.

We, who created the 1967 Chaparral, did so with the hope that it might serve as a tangible reminder of the intangible Plainsman Heritage. We would like to express thanks, thanks which are inadequate, to our staff; they transformed hard work into a 336 page book. We are grateful to Lubbock's merchants who finance the Chaparral. Thanks also to Taylor Publishing Company for interpreting all our confusing directions and presenting our annual as a finished product. Finally, we thank each Plainsman for supplying us with an infinite amount of warm human experiences that were a challenge to record in words and pictures.
